

MAKING

SENSE

OF

UFO

THE BVCEGI REPORT

Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi

INTRODUCTION: ... It will soon be 100 years since the late Charles Hoy Forts' book "THE BOOK OF THE DAMNED" was first published ... one wonders how the late Messrs., Charles H. Fort, Dr. Morris K. Jessup, and [Ingo Swann] would have approached and tackled the subject of UFO [Unidentified Flying Objects] today with space flight having been accomplished by THE HUMAN FAMILY ... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... Please do this simple thing; type the words "DUNDRUM H5" into a web based search engine and look at the results, list of websites and images of meteorite[s] ... the search gets better as you fathom the World Wide Web and come across the actual reports of the events referred to by Charles H. Fort ... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... is organized into seven [7] parts ... sources are at the end after the first six [6] parts ...

Part 1. ... COMMENT ON ...

Part 2. ... CHARLES HOY FORT ...

Part 3. ... WHAT WOULD JESSUP DO? ...

Part 4. ... PETER KHOURY ...

Part 5. ... INGO SWANN ...

Part 6. ... FINAL PART TO ...

Part 7. ... SOURCES ...

... Those who feel like rushing to Part 6 should do so and save themselves time; otherwise please enjoy reading the entire eBook, which you must remember at all times is just an opinion of one person and nothing more ... to save you even more time from rushing to Part 6; below is reproduced the entire Part 6 in slightly smaller print italics ...

... UNLIKE the red pill or the blue pill that one is familiar with from the Hollywood movie; The Matrix, there is a better pill ... THE YELLOW PILL ... derived from the subtraction of yellow from green to yield blue or the subtraction of yellow from orange to yield red ... meaning that the colors green and orange are sufficient to describe the four primary colors ... red, yellow, green and blue ... everything about UFO is real and has happened ... abductions ... sightings ... UFO crashes ... aliens ... planes missing ... ships missing ... conspiracies ... alternatives 1, 2 and 3 that were discussed by William Cooper ... the list is an extremely long one ... William Cooper had mentioned that radar had made some of the UFO to crash ... think for a moment ... radar is microwave radiation ... heats up water ... UFO craft power engines used water ... so there was an imbalance and UFO crashed ... more powerful radar was used resulting in more UFO crashes ... William Cooper had also mentioned that the "EBE [ExoBiological Entity]" had metabolism similar to plants on Earth and based upon Chlorophyll that allowed the "EBE" to absorb energy directly from Sunlight like Plants on Earth do ... Human Blood has Iron atoms in the Bloods' Hemoglobin molecules ... remove the Iron atoms and replace them selectively [?] with Magnesium atoms and the result is Chlorophyll molecules ... this is consistent with Jessups' point of view that UFO are from the Earths' past and reside in the gravity neutral of the Sun / Earth / Moon system since they had escaped the catastrophe of the past that wiped out Earths' past civilizations ... when someone is out in the hazardous and radiation filled environment of Space and unprotected for the long haul from radiation that is from both Cosmic and Solar origins ... it is only natural to adapt themselves to be able to survive radiation and UFO residents had to change their metabolism to becoming Chlorophyll based so that they could be alive in the harsh environs of Space and bide their time ... and essentially wait for the correct time to return to Earth again ... the point is that everything about UFO is consistent with Jessups' conclusions ... so the question is; WHAT NOW??? ... also the undersea cities mentioned by the annotators; A, B, and Jemi are completed and populated ... again the question is; WHAT NOW??? ... WELL; to start in the answers to those questions, a digress ... the greatest ability that The Human Family has nurtured; COMPASSION, which requires someone to have humility ... making The Human Family simply strong ... WHO ends up getting to participate in populating the offworld bases mentioned by William Cooper??? ... WHO ends up getting to participate in populating the undersea cities mentioned by A, B and Jemi??? ... I think you know the answer ... only the best ones are the ones who end up in the elite places ... meaning ... there are left behind humans and the UFO residents that could not make it to either the offworld bases nor the undersea cities ... this is what I mean by; "my opinion is that the UFO mystery [present] has ended due to its maturing into another form [mystery] entirely" ... the left behind humans and their left behind UFO cousins ... the cream of the crop has taken off and left us behind because we were not found to be of value or utility or as they say it; up to par ... it is precisely this situation that we should feel happy about as it contains within it the real and true future for The Human Family ... those that are left behind are humans and their human looking UFO cousins blessed with the strengths of compassion in humans and telepathic abilities in their human looking UFO cousins ... so; to those that have taken off, the very best is wished and for those of us left behind ... a brave new and wonderful future is in front of us ... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... my opinion is that the UFO mystery [present] has ended due to its maturing into another form [mystery] entirely ... UFO and the conspiracies around them will still go on and be kept alive as they are presently BIG BUSINESS for making movies, books, TV Shows etc., ... I agree with Jessup that UFO are from our terrestrial past and have returned after sensing safer conditions to exist in than before they had originally left ... my focus is on the future and ... THE HUMAN FAMILY ... something I look forward to with great joy and optimism ... LET US LOOK FORWARD TO THE HUMAN FAMILY AND ITS WONDERFUL FUTURE ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...
THE BVCEGI REPORT

Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi

Part 1. ... COMMENT ON ...

... this eBook is only about what its title says; and is an extremely small compilation of what the writer feels are important things about UFO ... two new concepts of people "left behind" are introduced as "the left behind ones"; left behind humans, together with their left behind human looking UFO cousins ... please read through the entire eBook so as to gain an appreciation of what others before you have gone through ... the tale of UFO has been an extremely sad tragedy; yet from the aftermath a Phoenix called "The Human Family" is set to arise ... and that is a cause for joy ... please do not feel uncomfortable about the concepts of people "left behind" ... this entire eBook has been put together within a time period between start of May 2016 through June 2016; and you can see that the feeling of the writer is as though an unseen hand had guided him, presenting those truly important things quickly ... an eBook of this nature cannot be put together alone; my gratitude to everyone that has been through the UFO saga ... about three months ago I had read about the Bucegi Mountains of Romania and the controversy and conspiracy theory around them on the web; drifting slowly to the website, <http://www.bibliotecapleyades.net> and it is from there the puzzle and mystery of UFO started to emerge for me ... since I enjoyed reading about the Bucegi Mountains but not agreeing with the conspiracy theory in the novel which I did not read; I felt like creating a fictitious name for the writer of this serious eBook ... the name; Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi, roughly means Count=> Count ... Sorin=> Zhoaren=> Sun ... von=> of / from ... Bucegi=> Bvcegi ... Royal Sun of/from Bucegi ... I wanted to share this with you the reader as only you and I know the secret of the name; Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi and both of us shall look forward to someone declaring themselves to be "the real Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi" and both you and I know that I will never reveal that I have created the name; Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi nor ever call myself Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi ... so let us enjoy the little secret about this eBook's writer and focus on the future of The Human Family ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

THE BVCEGI REPORT

Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi

Part 2. ... CHARLES HOY FORT ...

... WHY would this be an extremely boring book about UFO [Unidentified Flying Objects]? With the exception of Abductions of Human Beings by UFO; one possible answer is that the subject of UFO cannot produce something of a tangible evidence to hold in ones' hands and examine, in other words the touch and feel and show me things ... I have read through Chapter VIII of Charles H Fort's Book Of The Damned and became curious to look up the original events Charles had drawn from ... I am reproducing in the following pages screensnips of the two items Charles mentions in Chapter VIII Page 97 of a triangular cloud with a red nucleus and on Page 118 of a pyramidal stone that fell from the sky ... I have also included the screensnips of the reports showing those events Charles talks about ... While Charles has put together an authentic set of notes; one still has to verify for themselves the original events and see for themselves how they were first reported ... Call such things TRUST; BUT VERIFY or PROVE IT TO YOURSELF FIRST BEFORE TALKING ABOUT IT TO OTHERS etc., something common sense requires someone to do firstly before one can even entertain thoughts about it ... Also another reason for this book to be extremely boring is that it is written as an entire single chapter ... something monologuous ... IMAGINE for a moment and reflect whether it is unimaginativeness or laziness on the part of someone who chooses for a password; "nOne" or "Pa55Word" or when they name their computer account the same as the manufacturer of that computer ... THE POINT I AM TRYING TO MAKE IS; CHARLES HOY FORT HAD COMPILED AN ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF DATA AND ANALYZED IT AS THOROUGHLY AS HE POSSIBLY COULD, SOMETHING ALL OF US SHOULD BE EXTREMELY GRATEFUL FOR ... I COULD NOT FIGURE OUT FROM READING THE ORIGINAL REPORTS THAT THE PYRAMIDAL STONE HAD SOME SORT OF WRITING ON IT SIMILAR TO THE WRITING ON THE HISTORICAL ROSETTA STONE ... the links and the reports text for the screensnips are presented after the last screensnip ... one has to take the original work and carry it further in hono[u]r of and respect for the pioneers who made the trail for others to tread upon ... AND THUSLY; one discovers some gems hidden in revisiting the original reports quoted by such original researchers as Charles ... triangular cloud ... not just sheet lightning but ... intense electrical activity in the atmosphere ... deep and sombre red colored sheet lightning ... the description is amazing ... what an awesome treasure trove ... the web search for pyramidal stone does yield a photograph and dead links [from my side] ... for both "VIEW IMAGE" and "VIEW PAGE" ... so now we have a photograph of the pyramidal stone Charles speaks about ... and we hope that it indeed is the pyramidal stone that fell ... and now you see what I meant by ... I COULD NOT FIGURE OUT FROM READING THE ORIGINAL REPORTS THAT THE PYRAMIDAL STONE HAD SOME SORT OF WRITING ON IT SIMILAR TO THE WRITING ON THE HISTORICAL ROSETTA STONE ... as such reading would involve not just reading up on it but trying to see the pyramidal stone itself or a photograph of it at the very least ... BOOK OF THE DAMNED ... is a TOME ... which has been annotated into an hyperlinked manuscript by a Mr. X ... AND THE POINT IS THIS; WHILE CHARLES HAD ASSEMBLED HIS ORIGINAL WORK, MR. X HAD PAINSTAKINGLY ASSEMBLED THE SET OF REFERENCES AND SOURCES FROM WHERE CHARLES ORIGINALLY GOT HIS INFORMATION FROM ... reading up on and checking up on UFO and reports should be a breeze and not a tedious and labo[u]rious activity ... THUSLY; one more reason for this book to be extremely boring ... WE SHALL NOW EXIT CHARLES' BOOK OF THE DAMNED AND PICK UP ON THE BVCEGI REPORT DRIVEL OR DRIBBEL OR WHATEVER AFTER THE SCREENSNIP ON THE HYPertext VERSION WITH ANNOTATIONS BY MR. X ... a few pages later ... remember the saying; don't take someones' words for something ... know it as so yourself ... it will come in handy always ... also please do another web search for the pyramidal stone ... using the search words "DUNDRUM H5" and see what shows up ... talking about pyramidal stones; presented in the pages right after Charles Hypertext Version screensnip of Mr X's website are four screensnips ... one being of the video of an UFO fleet sighted over the Giza Pyramids ... the other three being NASA images of a pyramidal stone on Mars surface ... Links to the video of UFO Fleet over Giza Pyramids and the Mars Rover photo are given below ...

UFO FLEET over GIZA PYRAMIDS !!! April 2016 - UFO@SECTION 51

<http://www.section51-ufo.com/2016/04/ufo-fleet-over-giza-pyramids-april-2016.html>

April 2016 - Egypt, Giza Pyramid plateau. Amazing footage showing UFO fleet hovering over pyramids during few hours. Watch the VIDEO HERE !

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

NASA's Curiosity Rover finds a Pyramid on Mars

<http://www.ancient-code.com/nasas-curiosity-rover-finds-a-pyramid-on-mars/>

It seems that NASA's Curiosity rover has found a pyramid on the surface of Mars. Is this the ultimate evidence that ancient civilizations inhabited the red planet in the distant past?

0978MR0043250040502821E01_DXXX.jpg \(JPEG Image, 1344x1200 pixels\)

http://mars.jpl.nasa.gov/msl-raw-

images/msss/00978/mcam/0978MR0043250040502821E01_DXXX.jpg

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... my opinion is that the UFO mystery [present] has ended due to its maturing into another form [mystery] entirely ... UFO and the conspiracies around them will still go on and be kept alive as they are presently BIG BUSINESS for making movies, books, TV Shows etc., ... I agree with Jessup that UFO are from our terrestrial past and have returned after sensing safer conditions to exist in than before they had originally left ... my focus is on the future and ... THE HUMAN FAMILY ... something I look forward to with great joy and optimism ... LET US LOOK FORWARD TO THE HUMAN FAMILY AND ITS WONDERFUL FUTURE ... CHARLES wrote [4] four books which can be downloaded in PDF format from GLOBAL GREY or read on the World Wide Web at the Sacred Texts website;

... BOOK OF THE DAMNED

... LO!

... NEW LANDS

... WILD TALENTS

<http://globalgreypebooks.com/Pages/charles-fort.html>

<http://www.sacred-texts.com/fort/index.htm>

... I am grateful to Charles for having put together voluminous data and analysing it thoroughly ... I am hardly qualified even to make notes of what Charles has put together ... now from Charles we move on to Dr. Morris Ketchum Jessup; after the various screensnips of Charles, into a chapter titled ... WHAT WOULD JESSUP DO? ... the journey of ... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... deeply personal; with hope and a future to be lived in joy ...

GLOBAL GREY
Nothing But eBooks

Google Custom Search Search x

Contact About Tel: +447412 127331 (U.K 5am-7pm) |
Email: info@globalgreyebooks.com

FREE EBOOKS DOCUMENTARIES BUY USB BLOG F.A.Q DONATE

I run this site on my own. Please support it by donating £1 (or whatever you can), or by purchasing one of the USB ebook collections.

You get free delivery, free updates for a year and 2 bonus folders.

Charles Fort

Books

Info

Available Books

The Book Of The Damned (1919)

New Lands (1923)

Lo! (1931)

Wild Talents (1933)

CATEGORIES

All ebooks

Book Lists

Book Series

Africa

Alchemy

Americas

Ancient Egypt

Ancient Near East

Anthropology

Apocrypha

Art

Articles And Essays

Asia

Astrology

Atlantis

Topics
Home
Catalog
African
Age of Reason
Alchemy
Americana
Ancient Near East
Astrology
Asia
Atlantis
Australia
Basque
Baha'i
Bible
Book of Shadows
Buddhism
Celtic
Christianity
Classics
Comparative
Confucianism
DNA
Earth Mysteries
Egyptian
England
Esoteric/Occult
Evil
Fortean
Freemasonry
Gothic
Gnosticism
Grimoires
Hinduism
I Ching
Islam
Icelandic
Jainism
Journals
Judaism
Legends/Sagas
Legendary Creatures

Sacred-texts home
Esoteric UFOs
Buy CD-ROM Buy Fortean Books

FORTEAN TEXTS

In the early twentieth century Charles Fort put together great quantities of exhaustively documented 'puzzling evidence.' This is data which science is unable or unwilling to explain, such rains of fish or blood, mysterious animals, or manufactured artifacts in deep strata. Fort collected numerous accounts of aerial phenomena prior to the invention of aviation, including huge cylinders and spheres in the sky. Many of these would today be considered UFOs.

These etexts were scanned from the authoritative 1941 Thayer one-volume edition of Fort's works. The page numbering in each text reflects that edition. Copyrighted material in the Thayer edition (the introduction and index) has been omitted.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF CHARLES FORT

BOOK OF THE DAMNED
 by Charles Fort [1919]
 'I THINK WE'RE PROPERTY.'

NEW LANDS
 by Charles Fort [1923]
 FORT UNCOVERS MORE EVIDENCE OF VISITORS IN OUR SKIES.

Lo!
 by Charles Fort [1931]
 IS SPONTANEOUS TELEPORTATION THE KEY TO A NEW VIEW OF REALITY?

WILD TALENTS
 by Charles Fort [1933]
 POLTERGEISTS, FIRE-STARTERS, TELEKINESIS, DOWSING--ARE HUMANS DEVELOPING NEW ABILITIES?

Now Shipping! The Sacred Texts DVD-ROM 9.0: own the wisdom of the ages!

Sign up for sacred-texts updates by email

Enter your Email

Preview
 Powered by FeedBlitz

On Twitter, follow 'sacredtexts.'

Sacred-texts on Facebook

Bookmark and search powered by

☒ sacred-texts
☐ Web

Sponsored Links

BOOK OF THE DAMNED

97

is—"bright ball of fire and light in a hurricane in England, Sept. 2, 1786." The remarkable datum here is that this phenomenon was visible forty minutes. That's about 800 times the duration that the orthodox give to meteors and meteorites.

See the Annual Register—many instances.

In Nature, Oct. 25, 1877, and the London Times, Oct. 15, 1877, something that fell in a gale of Oct. 14, 1877, is described as a "huge ball of green fire." This phenomenon is described by another correspondent, in Nature, 17-10, and an account of it by another correspondent was forwarded to Nature by W. F. Denning.

There are so many instances that some of us will revolt against the insistence of the faithful that it is only coincidence, and accept that there is connection of the kind called causal. If it is too difficult to think of stones and metallic masses swerved from their courses by storms, if they move at high velocity, we think of low velocity, or of things having no velocity at all, hovering a few miles above this earth, dislodged by storms, and falling luminously.

But the resistance is so great here, and "coincidence" so insisted upon that we'd better have some more instances:

Aerolite in a storm at St. Leonards-on-sea, England, Sept. 17, 1885—no trace of it found (Annual Register, 1885); meteorite in a gale, March 1, 1886, described in the Monthly Weather Review, March, 1886; meteorite in a thunderstorm, off coast of Greece, Nov. 19, 1899 (Nature, 61-111); fall of a meteorite in a storm, July 7, 1883, near Lachine, Quebec (Monthly Weather Review, July, 1883); same phenomenon noted in Nature, 28-319; meteorite in a whirlwind, Sweden, Sept. 24, 1883 (Nature, 29-15).

London Roy. Soc. Proc., 6-276:

A triangular cloud that appeared in a storm, Dec. 17, 1852; a red nucleus, about half the apparent diameter of the moon, and a long tail; visible 13 minutes; explosion of the nucleus.

Nevertheless, in Science Gossip, n.s., 6-65, it is said that, though meteorites have fallen in storms, no connection is supposed to exist between the two phenomena, except by the ignorant peasantry.

But some of us peasants have gone through the Report of the British Association, 1852. Upon page 239, Dr. Buist, who had never heard of the Super-Sargasso Sea, says that, though it is difficult to trace connection between the phenomena, three aerolites had fallen in five months, in India, during thunderstorms, in 1851 (may have been 1852). For accounts by witnesses, see page 229, of the Report.

January 27, 1853.

The EARL OF ENNISKILLEN, V.P., in the Chair.

A letter was read giving an account of "An Explosive Meteorite." By Francis Higginson, Esq., R.N. Communicated by Thomas Bell, Esq., Sec. R.S. &c. Received December 23, 1852.

The writer states that his attention having been aroused by the highly electrical state of the atmosphere during a severe gale of wind, he proceeded along the beach in the vicinity of Dover, at 2 A.M. on the morning of Friday, the 17th of December 1852.

It had blown very hard during the night, the wind veering from West to W.S.W., in occasional heavy squalls of rain and sleet, accompanied at intervals by faint flashing scintillations, which at first, being considered sheet lightning, were only noticed from their unusual colour, a deep and sombre red. At about 4^h 50^m A.M., however, these flashes constantly emerging from a dense, triangular and very remarkable cloud in the S.E., which perceptibly increased in size with great rapidity, he was induced to observe it with minute attention. At 4^h 55^m A.M., Greenwich mean time, the cloud had assumed the form of a right-angled triangle, its hypotenuse, or longest side, tending east and west. At this instant he first heard a singular and extraordinary hissing sound in the air, not unlike that of a passing shot, which, although at first not very loud, was yet clearly distinguishable above the howling of the gale. At 5 A.M. the cloud had nearly doubled its original size, advancing steadily from the S.E. in a N.W. direction, or from nearly dead to leeward, towards the wind's eye; whilst the scintillations spoken of were emitted with increased rapidity. He also then first perceived in the centre of the cloud, a dull, red, obscure nucleus, or fire-ball, apparently about half the diameter of the moon, having a tail five or six times that length, from which the flashes mentioned were sent forth, of surpassing brilliancy, as the meteor clearly descended with great velocity through the air, accompanied by a detonating, hurtling, hissing sound, impossible to describe, yet resembling that which precedes the shock of an earthquake. At three minutes past five o'clock A.M., the meteor having apparently spanned the Channel from S.E. to N.W., upon approaching the land—evidently throwing off portions of its substance as it passed through the atmosphere—the nucleus suddenly exploded with a report similar to a very heavy clap of thunder, giving out an intensely brilliant light, which rendered the minutest objects distinctly visible, although it rained violently and the sky was obscured by dark and threatening clouds. The dense body of the meteorite seemed to fall in the water about half a mile from the land, as indicated by a great volume of spray, which rose foaming in the distance.

277

held for ages in suspension in the Super-Sargasso Sea—falling, or shaken, down occasionally by storms——

But, by preponderance of description, we can not accept that “thunderstones” ever were attached to handles, or are prehistoric axes——

As to attempts to communicate with this earth, by means of wedge-shaped objects especially adapted to the penetration of vast, gelatinous areas spread around this earth——

In the Proc. Roy. Irish Acad., 9-337, there is an account of a stone wedge that fell from the sky, near Cashel, Tipperary, Aug. 2, 1865. The phenomenon is not questioned, but the orthodox preference is to call it, not ax-like, nor wedge-shaped, but “pyramidal.” For data of other pyramidal stones said to have fallen from the sky, see Rept. Brit. Assoc., 1861-34. One fell at Segowolee, India, March 6, 1853. Of the object that fell at Cashel, Dr. Haughton says in the Proceedings: “A singular feature is observable in this stone, that I have never seen in any other:—the rounded edges of the pyramid are sharply marked by lines on the black crust; as perfect as if made by a ruler.” Dr. Haughton’s idea is that the marks may have been made by “some peculiar tension in the cooling.” It must have been very peculiar, if in all aerolites not wedge-shaped, no such phenomenon had ever been observed. It merges away with one or two instances, known, after Dr. Haughton’s time, of seeming stratification in meteorites. Stratification in meteorites, however, is denied by the faithful.

I begin to suspect something else.

A whopper is coming.

Later it will be as reasonable, by familiarity, as anything else ever said.

If some one should study the stone of Cashel, as Champollion studied the Rosetta stone, he might—or, rather, would inevitably—find meaning in those lines, and translate them into English——

Nevertheless I begin to suspect something else: something more subtle and esoteric than graven characters upon stones that have fallen from the sky, in attempts to communicate. The notion that other worlds are attempting to communicate with this world is widespread: my own notion is that it is not attempt at all—that it was achievement centuries ago.

I should like to send out a report that a “thunderstone” had fallen, say, somewhere in New Hampshire——

UK and Ireland Meteorite page... X +

www.meteoritehistory.info/UKIRELAND/SEIRE.HTM#dundrum

<< go back

DUNDRUM, County Tipperary
 Stone(H5), witnessed fall 12th August, 1865 7pm
 After detonations, a single stone of 4lb 14.5oz was seen to fall.
Extract from Proceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, 1865, Volume 9, page 336

Extract from Proceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, 1865, Volume 9, page 336

On the Meteoric Stone that fell at Dundrum, County of Tipperary, on the 12th August, 1865.

The Meteoric Stone, that forms the subject of the present Paper, fell near Dundrum, county of Tipperary, under circumstances that were described to me as follows, by the man in whose garden it fell:--

Statement of eyewitness.

"I, John Johnson, of the parish of Clonoulty, near Cashel, county Tipperary, was walking across my potato garden, at the back of my house, in company with Michael Fahy and William Furlong, on the 12th of August, 1865, at seven p. m., when I heard a clap, like the shot out of a cannon, very quick, and not like thunder; this was followed by a buzzing noise, which continued for about a quarter of an hour, when it came over our heads; and on looking up, we saw an object falling down in a slanting direction. We were frightened at its speed, which was so great that we could scarcely notice it; but after it fell, we proceeded to look for it, and found it at a distance of forty yards, half buried in the ground, where it had struck the top of a potato drill. We were some time in looking for it (a longer time than that during which we had heard the noise). On taking up the stone, we found it warm, milk warm, but not hot enough to be inconvenient. The next day it was given up to Lord Hawarden.

"John Johnson."

It was afterwards presented by Lord Hawarden to the Geological Museum of Trinity College, where it is publicly exhibited.

The stone weighed 4lbs. 14½ oz. It is rudely pyramidal in form; the triangular base being a freshly broken surface, and the faces of the pyramid being covered by the usual black vitrified glaze. It is evidently a portion of a much larger stone; and as it appears from the foregoing statement that its vertical velocity was not great, it is probable that other pieces of the larger mass may yet be found in the neighbourhood of Dundrum.

A singular feature is observable in this stone that I have never yet seen in any other:--the rounded edges of the pyramid are sharply marked by lines on the black crust, as perfect as if made by a ruler. This appearance is strictly confined to the surface, and seems to be a result of some peculiar tension of the fused crust in cooling; for no trace of any continuation of the lines can be found in the interior of the stone.

On examination with the lens, specks of metallic iron and of magnetic pyrites are visible, and also a few minute grains of chrysolite; no other minerals can be detected in the paste, which is of a dull grey, and of loose texture, almost like a porous sandstone; and the whole stone would attract little notice, were it not for its specific gravity, and the metallic particles visible in it.

[then followed by three and a half pages of chemical analysis]

... TRIANGULAR CLOUD WITH A RED NUCLEUS;

LINKS TO PDF;

<https://archive.org/details/philtrans01989608>

<https://archive.org/details/jstor-111214>

BOTH LINKS GIVE YOU PDFs;

https://archive.org/stream/philtrans01989608/01989608_djvu.txt

THE ABOVE LINK GIVES YOU TEXT;

January 27, 1853.

The EARL OF ENNISKILLEN, V.P., in the Chair.

A letter was read giving an account of " An Explosive Meteorite."

By Francis Higginson, Esq., R.N. Communicated by Thomas Bell, Esq., Sec. R.S. &c. Received December 23, 1852.

The writer states that his attention having been aroused by the highly electrical state of the atmosphere during a severe gale of wind, he proceeded along the beach in the vicinity of Dover, at 2 a.m. on the morning of Friday, the 17th of December 1852. It had blown very hard during the night, the wind veering from West to W.S.W., in occasional heavy squalls of rain and sleet, accompanied at intervals by faint flashing scintillations, which at first, being considered sheet lightning, were only noticed from their unusual colour, a deep and sombre red. At about 4 h 50 m a.m., however, these flashes constantly emerging from a dense, triangular and very remarkable cloud in the S.E., which perceptibly increased in size with great rapidity, he was induced to observe it with minute attention. At 4 h 55 m a.m., Greenwich mean time, the cloud had assumed the form of a right-angled triangle, its hypotenuse, or longest side, tending east and west. At this instant he first heard a singular and extraordinary hissing sound in the air, not unlike that of a passing shot, which, although at first not very loud, was yet clearly distinguishable above the howling of the gale. At 5 a.m. the cloud had nearly doubled its original size, advancing steadily from the S.E. in a N.W. direction, or from nearly dead to leeward, towards the wind's eye ; whilst the scintillations spoken of were emitted with increased rapidity. He also then first perceived in the centre of the cloud, a dull, red, obscure nucleus, or fire-ball, apparently about half the diameter of the moon, having a tail five or six times that length, from which the flashes mentioned were sent forth, of surpassing brilliancy, as the meteor clearly descended with great velocity through the air, accompanied by a detonating, hurtling, hissing sound, impossible to describe, yet resembling that which precedes the shock of an earthquake. At three minutes past five o'clock a.m., the meteor having apparently spanned the Channel from S.E. to N.W., upon approaching the land — evidently throwing off portions of its substance as it passed through the atmosphere — the nucleus suddenly exploded with a report similar to a very heavy clap of thunder, giving out an intensely brilliant light, which rendered the minutest objects distinctly visible, although it rained violently and the sky was obscured by dark and threatening clouds. The dense body of the meteorite seemed to fall in the water about half a mile from the land, as indicated by a great volume of spray, which rose foaming in the distance.

277

... PYRAMIDAL OBJECT REPORT;

<http://meteoritehistory.info/UKIRELAND/C19.HTM>

<http://meteoritehistory.info/UKIRELAND/C19.HTM#dundrum>

<< go back

DUNDRUM, County Tipperary

Stone(H5), witnessed fall 12th August, 1865 7pm

After detonations, a single stone of 4lb 14.5oz was seen to fall.

Extract from Proceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, 1865, Volume 9, page 336

Extract from Proceedings of the Royal Irish Academy, 1865, Volume 9, page 336

On the Meteoric Stone that fell at Dundrum, County of Tipperary, on the 12th August, 1865.

The Meteoric Stone, that forms the subject of the present Paper, fell near Dundrum, county of Tipperary, under circumstances that were described to me as follows, by the man in whose garden it fell:--

Statement of eyewitness.

"I, John Johnson, of the parish of Clonoulty, near Cashel, county Tipperary, was walking across my potato garden, at the back of my house, in company with Michael Fahy and William Furlong, on the 12th of August, 1865, at seven p. m., when I heard a clap, like the shot out of a cannon, very quick, and not like thunder; this was followed by a buzzing noise, which continued for about a quarter of an hour, when it came over our heads; and on looking up, we saw an object falling down in a slanting direction. We were frightened at its speed, which was so great that we could scarcely notice it; but after it fell, we proceeded to look for it, and found it at a distance of forty yards, half buried in the ground, where it had struck the top of a potato drill. We were some time in looking for it (a longer time than that during which we had heard the noise). On taking up the stone, we found it warm, milk warm, but not hot enough to be inconvenient. The next day it was given up to Lord Hawarden.

"John Johnson."

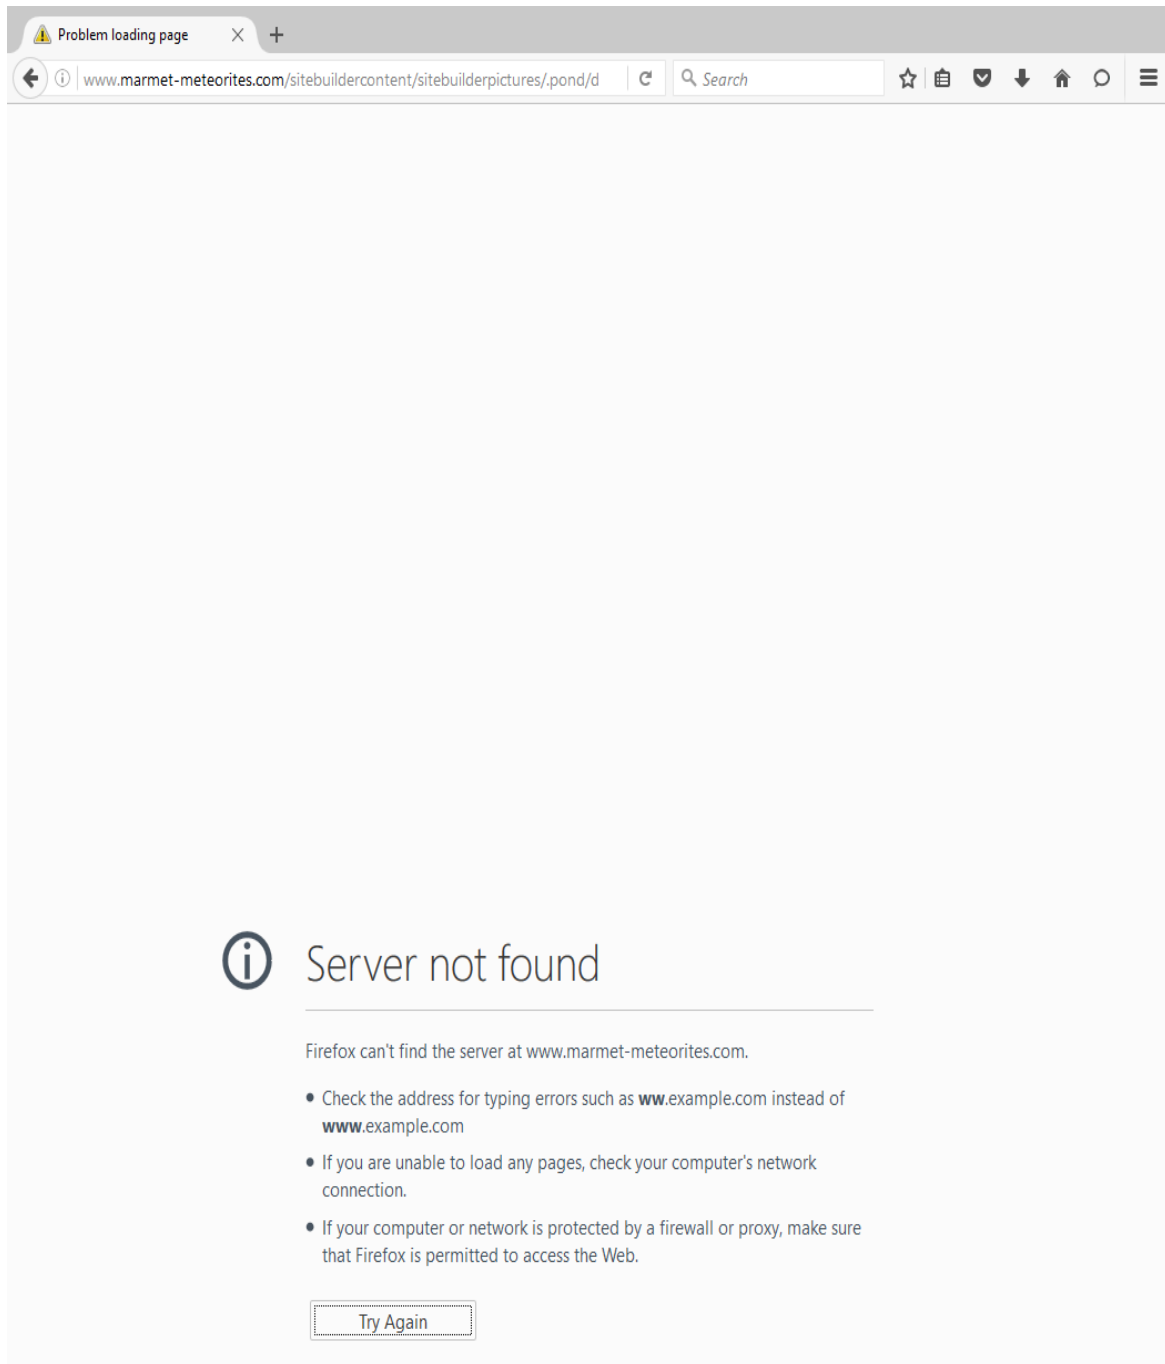

It was afterwards presented by Lord Hawarden to the Geological Museum of Trinity College, where it is publicly exhibited.

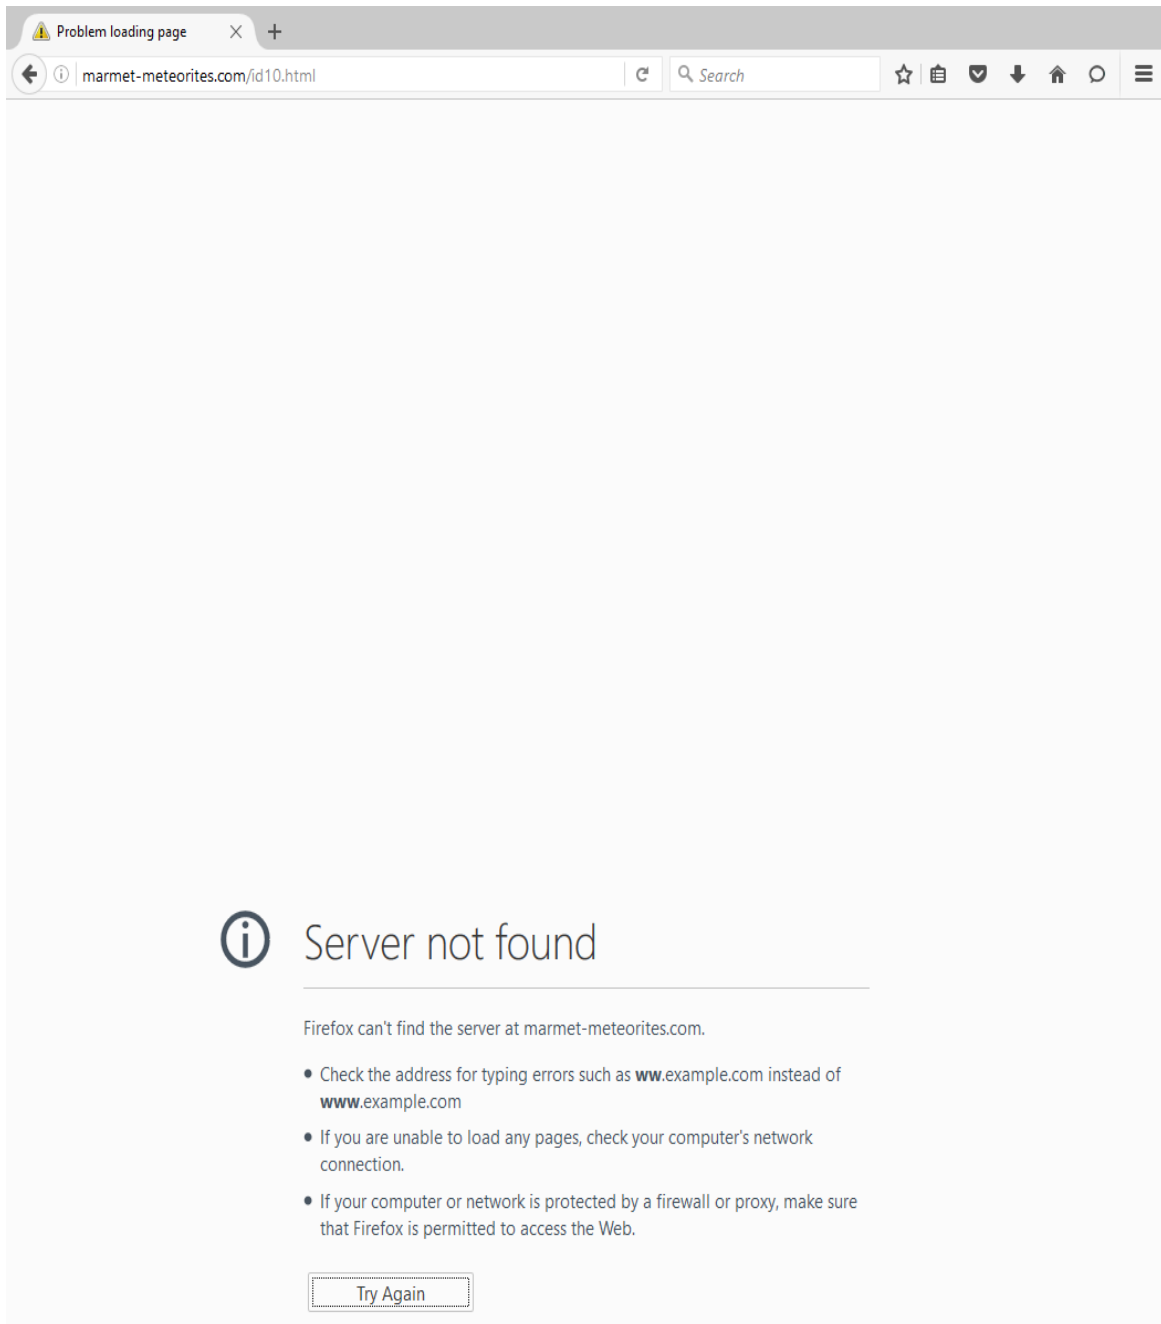

The stone weighed 4lbs. 14½ oz. It is rudely pyramidal in form; the triangular base being a freshly broken surface, and the faces of the pyramid being covered by the usual black vitrified glaze. It is evidently a portion of a much larger stone; and as it appears from the foregoing statement that its vertical velocity was not great, it is probable that other pieces of the larger mass may yet be found in the neighbourhood of Dundrum.

A singular feature is observable in this stone that I have never yet seen in any other:--the rounded edges of the pyramid are sharply marked by lines on the black crust, as perfect as if made by a ruler. This appearance is strictly confined to the surface, and seems to be a result of some peculiar tension of the fused crust in cooling; for no trace of any continuation of the lines can be found in the interior of the stone.

On examination with the lens, specks of metallic iron and of magnetic pyrites are visible, and also a few minute grains of chrysolite; no other minerals can be detected in the paste, which is of a dull grey, and of loose texture, almost like a porous sandstone; and the whole stone would attract little notice, were it not for its specific gravity, and the metallic particles visible in it.

[then followed by three and a half pages of chemical analysis]

The Book of the Damned

A Hypertext Edition of Charles Hoy Fort's Book

Edited and Annotated by Mr. X

Editor's Introduction

The Book of the Damned was the first iconoclastic book written by Charles Hoy Fort and was first published in 1919. As the original edition is rare, and, as the book contains many errors, I am making this hypertext edition available with some of my notes. This work is not completed, and I am still seeking out many more of Fort's sources; but, I hope that others may find this a helpful and ready copy for their own reference use. All of the footnotes are the editor's work, the text is that of the 1919 edition, and, the original pagination is identified within square brackets.

Mr. X

[1]

THE BOOK OF THE DAMNED

[3]

THE

BOOK OF THE DAMNED

BY

CHARLES FORT

HORACE LIVERIGHT

PUBLISHER NEW YORK

[4]

COPYRIGHT, 1919,

HORACE LIVERIGHT, INC.

First Printing, December, 1919

Second Printing, February, 1920

Third Printing, February, 1931

Printed in the U.S.A.

[5]

THE BOOK OF THE DAMNED

First Chapter

Or, go to:

Chapter 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28

Return to Mr. X's Fortean Web-Site

Communications, (preferably in English), may be sent to Mr. X by electronic mail at fortean@resologist.net or by letters to: Box 1598, Kingston, Ontario K7L 5C8 CANADA.

© X, 1999

File Edit View History Bookmarks Tools Help

UFO FLEET over GIZA ...

www.section51-ufo.com/2016/04/ufo-fleet-over-giza-pyramids-april-

Search

UFO@SECTION 51

Exposing the reality of UFOs... Subscribe !

Home About UFOs in Wartime UFOs through the World UFOs in Space Contact

UFO FLEET over GIZA PYRAMIDS !!! April 2016

April 19 2016

April 2016 - Egypt, Giza Pyramid plateau. Amazing footage showing UFO fleet hovering over pyramids during few hours.

Watch the VIDEO HERE !

It is believed that the Tulli Papyrus is the best evidence of ancient flying saucers in the distant past, and for some reason, historians have questioned its authenticity and meaning. Like many other an-img.over-blog-kiwi.com/1/46/09/91/20160419/ob_0661d3_film215-v2-1280x720.jpg

SECTION

- About
- UFOs in War
- UFOs throug
- UFOs in Spac
- UFOs in Histo
- Ancient Ali
- Alien Techno
- BEST UFOs C
- Cryptids / Ali
- Home

Follow m

-  on Twit
-  on Face
-  via RSS

Subscrib

Subscribe to t

Categorie

- #ufo
- #ovni
- #disc
- #alien
- #us marine
- #afghanista
- #drone
- #firefight

File Edit View History Bookmarks Tools Help

NASA's Curiosity Rover finds a... x +

www.ancient-code.com/nasas-curiosity-rover-finds-a-pyramid-on-ma Search

Home Ancient History News The unexplained Forums More

Ancient CODE

f t g+ s

FOLLOW US ON GOOGLE+

Ancient Code

+27,092

ADVERTISING

VIRAL ON ANCIENT CODE

Mystery Star with possible Alien Megastructures to be detailedly monitored for a year

Mind-boggling: Thousands of years ago, the ancients carved THIS temple out of a mountain

Elongated 'Alien' Skull discovered on Mars

UFO Breakthrough: UK Alien files due out in weeks will prove Aliens visit Earth

Elongated Skulls: A Mindboggling Global Phenomenon

Alien invasion not happening anytime soon: Astronomers say Humans will take 1,500 years to find ET

Have researchers discovered the legendary KRAKEN near the Antarctic Peninsula?

Scientists detect life-forming molecule in interstellar space for the FIRST time ever

'Britain's Atlantis' spotted beneath the North Sea: Huge

THE UNEXPLAINED

NASA's Curiosity Rover finds a Pyramid on Mars

SHARE

+

t

2

p

Is this the ultimate evidence that ancient civilizations inhabited the red planet in the distant past? NASA's curiosity rover has photographed on of the most interesting images of the surface of Mars ever since it touched down on the red planet in 2012. Curiosity was launched from Cape Canaveral on November 26, 2011, at 10:02 EST aboard the MSL spacecraft and landed on Aeolis Palus in Gale Crater on Mars on August 6, 2012

You can check out the RAW image of the pyramid here.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

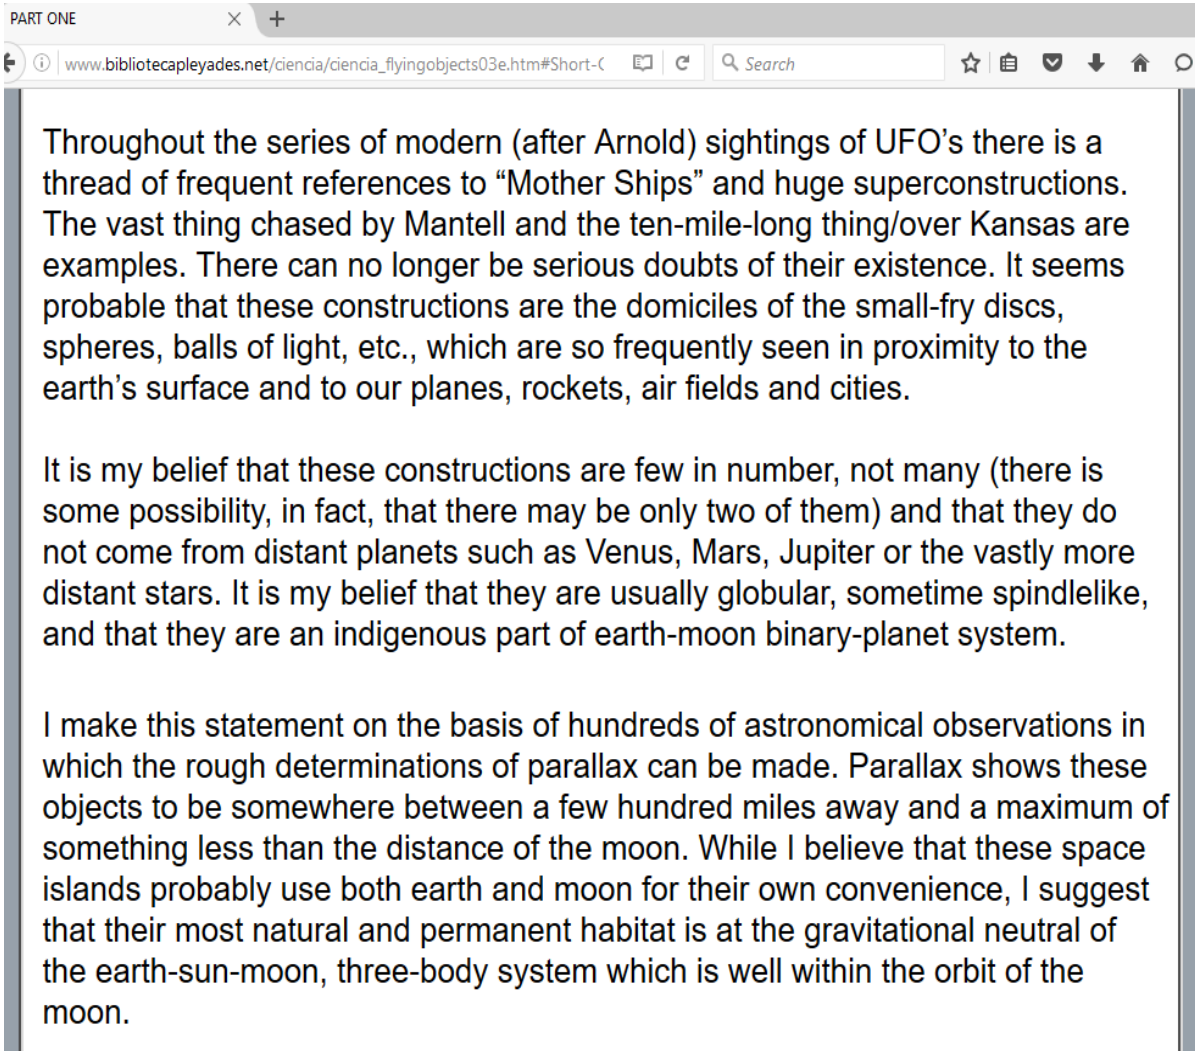

... Curiosity Mars Rover Image From NASA ...

0978MR0043250040502821E01_DXXX.jpg (JPEG Image, 1344×1200 pixels)

<http://mars.jpl.nasa.gov/msl-raw->

images/msss/00978/mcam/0978MR0043250040502821E01_DXXX.jpg

Part 3. ... WHAT WOULD JESSUP DO? ...

... the screensnip above essentially summarizes the late Dr. Morris K. Jessups' thoughts on UFO ... UFO are from the terrestrial past ... Jessups' question was always "what are their activities when they are not appearing to us?" ... I have not found information on the "ten-mile-long" thing over Kansas ... there is information about the Mantell UFO encounter ... let us think for a moment about the antediluvian past that Jessup talks about ... a large continent called "Lemuria" is thought to have sunk below the Pacific Ocean ... the northeastern part of Lemuria is considered to be the western seaboard of the continental

United States ... I think Japan with its eastern seaboard was a part of Lemuria also especially considering the Yonaguni undersea ruins... please see the attached screensnip of the Map of Lemuria ... in my opinion Mount Shasta in California and Mount Fuji in Japan were in the northeastern and northwestern parts of Lemuria ... my only thoughts are that we are extremely fortunate to have some of the original Lemurian Continent still present with us ... the sinking of Lemuria was estimated to be approximately 12,500 years ago ... some estimate that the Moon appeared in our skies around the same time ... the Moon is considered an anomaly being too huge of a satellite for a relatively smaller planet ... Colonel James Churchward had brought out the Legend of Lemurian Continent and its eventual sinking ... looking at the constructions left behind by the antediluvian civilizations all over the globe and the sizes of stones that were used in the constructions Jessup reasoned that there was knowledge of levitation and manipulation of such large stones ... the partially worked stone left behind in the quarry near Baalbek ruins gives an idea of the stone sizes ... 2000 tons ... Jessup thought that there must have been huge sky based ships that would work the stones out of the quarry and lift the stones and then place these stones in their proper places in the constructions ... the important thing to remember about Jessups' writings is that they are as original and thought provoking as Charles Forts' writings; even though Jessup was an astronomer and Charles never readily liked astronomers ... what I find interesting is that the antediluvian human civilizations took the stones exactly as they were and then reworked them directly and placed them in their constructions ... now contrast that with how we do our present constructions ... break up the stone to extract the metallic ore and use the metals to make the structural elements ... our capability seems to be in crushing rocks and stones but not on using the stones exactly as they are ... I wonder how the undersea cities mentioned by A, B and Jemi [mentioned in the later screensnips] are built ... we will revisit James Churchward; whom the annotators of Jessups' classic do not seem to know, in the part on Ingo Swann ... Jessup wrote a total of four [4] books; The Case for the UFO, UFO and The Bible, The Expanding Case for the UFO, and The UFO Annual ... all of which have been reprinted and are readily available for purchase through several booksellers ... just like the writings of Charles; Jessups' writings are best read by oneself ...

... Baalbek unfinished stone in quarry ...

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Baalbek>

... Akhenaten, Nefetiti and their children ...

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nefertiti>

... no one talks about the head shapes of the Egyptian Royalty; the huge elongated back portions of the skulls clearly evident in the children ... the next illustration shows the famous depiction of Nefertiti ... the last one of the standing / striding Nefertiti shows an odd opening in the forehead ... also notice how the lines of Nefertitis' headdress match up with lines on Nefertitis' forehead ... I am sure there will be all kinds of explanations trying to tell us that truly ancient Egyptians looked just like us everyday Joe humans of today ... my question is this ... What would Charles or Jessup make of the features??? ... it is still not too late to take a fresh approach to understanding our human past more thoroughly and comprehensively ...

Evidence of Lemuria or Mu

by William Hutton

Spanish version

May 10, 2002

Last Updated: November 09, 2002
from HuttonCommentaries Website

Introduction

The notion of a lost continent beneath the Pacific Ocean seems preposterous. But there are many stories and books that reference such a place. Col. James Churchward wrote five books on the lost continent of Mu (also called Lemuria).¹⁻⁴

More about Churchward's works later. There is even a group called "The Lemurian Fellowship" located in Ramona, California, which has published its concept of a map of the lost continent (see Fig. 1).

Fig. 1 - Continent of Mu (According to the Lemurian Fellowship).

The Thomas Mantell Incident (aircraft crashes after chasing UFO)

Date: January 7, 1948

Location: Godman Air Force Base, Kentucky, United States

Many stories have been written about the untimely death of Captain Thomas Mantell whose USAF P-51 Mustang aircraft crashed on the 7th. January 1948, shortly after having observed a UFO seen hovering in the air close to the US Army Air Force Base at Godman Field, Kentucky. The official Army Air Force verdict is that Mantell's aircraft crashed after he blacked out owing to lack of oxygen while attempting to fly too high an altitude in what was later described as a high altitude weather balloon.

An artist's impression of Capt. Thomas Mantell's fatal encounter with a UFO above the Godman Air Force Base in Kentucky in 1948. (credit: Peter Brooksmith)

Captain Thomas Mantell

"Varo Edition"

THE CASE FOR THE

UFO

UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECT

BY M. K. JESSUP

Transcribed by
The Quantum Future Group
Castelnau-Barbarens, France
2003

Varo-Jessup.PdF (SECURED) - Adobe Acrobat Reader DC

File Edit View Window Help

Home Tools

Varo-Jessup.PdF (S... x

Sign In

2 / 165

99.3%

THE CASE FOR THE

U F O

Unidentified Flying Objects

By M.K. Jessup

The Case For The UFO

Unidentified Flying Object

by Morris K. Jessup

1955

Bantam Books, New York

Transcribed by The Quantum Future Group

Castelnau-Barbarens, France

2003

from Cassiopaea Website

NOTE:

Anyone reading this book would have to KNOW that Electron quantum, Within Molecular structures, are similar in scope of "field" as Planets orbits. They Would Have to know that.

Electrons in Metal go across, What in Planetary Systems, would be BILLIONS OF MILES, Leaving three a Gravitational field, Dead-spot or Node, or Vortice or Neutral as this one thing is variously called.

Realizing this as Dr. Albert Einstein did, it shows clearly how solids may become Energy or Dissolute AND How then they May Pass easily out of Visual scope instantly.

This is Merely one Clue gleamed from Einstein's Theory of a Unified Magnetic Field through all substances AND throughout Whole inter-Galactic-Universe. U.S.

EXPERIMENTS, 1943 ON ONE PART OF IT PROVED PLENTY!

Table Of Contents

- Preface by Gray Barker
- Presentation
- Preface
- Introduction

PART I - The Case for the UFO's

- "If It Waddles..."?
- UFO's Are Real
- There Is Intelligence in Space
- Short-Cut to Space Travel
- The Home of the UFO's
- Are UFO's Russian?
- Space Flights - Common Denominator

PART II - Meteorology Speaks

- Falling Ice
- Falling Stones
- Falling Live Things
- Falling Animal and Organic Matter
- Falling Shaped Things
- Falls of Water
- Clouds and Storms
- Rubbish in Space

- PART III - History Speaks
- Disappearing Ships and Crew
- Teleportation or Kidnapping?
- Levitation
- Marks and "Footprints"
- Disappearing Planes
- Fireballs and Lights
- Legends

PART IV - Astronomy Speaks

- The Incredible Decade
- UFO's Against the Sun
- Location of UFO's
- UFO Patrol
- The Height of the Puzzle
- The Case is Proved!
- A NOTE ON SOURCES

Return to Filadelfia-Montauk / Proyecto Negros

Return to The Saga of Flying Objects

Return to Temas / Vida Alienigena

Return to Temas / Libros-Tratados

Teleportation or Kidnapping?

As sheer entertainment, little compares with the intrigue of the countless reports, verified, of the strange and instantaneous movement of persons from one place to another—distances of many many, miles.

But to serve our ends, we must look again for selectivity and, if possible, some indication of motive. Perhaps we should ascribe these phenomena to caprices of space inhabitants. On the other hand, there may be an element of error involved. Perhaps, for some inexplicable reasons, the UFO's made choices for capture or kidnapping and then discovered, suddenly, that their choice had not been a wise one.

From what we have already discovered, as to speed of movements and the vast areas which can be covered. It is not at all unlikely that the pickup was made, the error discovered, and the kidnapped set down again—but the UFO has traveled such a great distance that it does not realize that it is not putting the object (person) down in relatively the same place! But if they are that intelligent they'd know they weren't putting the object (person) down in the same place. Perhaps so—but why would they care?

Bear these thoughts in mind as we review our first case of teleportation.

On the morning of October 25, 1593, relates Don Luis Gonzales Obregon, in Las Calles de Mexico, a soldier suddenly appeared in the Plaza Mayor of Mexico City; a soldier dressed in the uniform of the regiment which at that moment was guarding the walled citadel of Manila, in the Philippine Islands.

With the soldier's strange appearance came the rumor that his Excellency, Gomez Peres Dasmartinas, Governor of the Philippines, was dead. A preposterous rumor, of course! But one that spread through the city like wildfire.

Puzzled as to how the soldier could have traveled more than nine thousand miles without so much as soiling his uniform, the authorities nevertheless jailed him as a deserter from the Philippines regiment.

Weeks passed while the soldier languished in prison; the long slow weeks necessary for new to travel by sailing ship from the Philippines to Acapulco, then by messenger across the sky-high mountains and into the valley of Mexico.

Suddenly, Mexico City was quaking with news. His Excellency, the Governor of the Philippines was dead, murdered by a mutinous Chinese crew off Punta de Azufre shortly after he had left his island home on a military expedition against the Moluccas! Moreover, he had been murdered on the very day the Philippine soldier had appeared in the Plaza of Mexico City. The Holy Tribunal of the Inquisition took charge of the soldier. He could not tell them how he had been transported from Manila to Mexico. Only that it had been "in less time than it takes a cock to crow." Nor could he tell them how it had come to pass that Mexico City was buzzing with the news of the Governor's death, even before it was known in Manila.

At order of the Holy Tribunal, the soldier was returned to the Philippines for further investigation into the mysterious matter. Irrefutable witnesses came forward to swear that the soldier had been on duty in the Island City on the night of October 24; just as it had been proved beyond doubt that on the following morning he had been apprehended in the Plaza of Mexico City, more than nine thousand miles away.

A Legend? Not according to the records of the chroniclers of the Order of San Augustin and the order of Santo Domingo. Not according to Dr. Antonio de Morga, high justice of the criminal court of the Royal Audiencia of New Spain, in his Sucesos do las Islas Filipinas.

This case of this peripatetic soldier is one where we can tie down both ends of a teleportation axis, if indeed it is teleportation. We can find unexplained disappearances and appearances, but, offhand, we don't know of others just like this one. And it seems as though there may be several debatable disappearances. But what are you going to do with apports, or appearances? It seems to me that they are a sort of second order phenomenon, unless they can be connected somehow with corresponding disappearances, some place. Shall we settle for a kidnapping by UFO's?

is not putting the object (person) down in relatively the same place! But if they are that intelligent they'd know they weren't putting the object (person) down in the same place. Perhaps so—but why would they care?

A Malaria infested person. Not Desirable to L-MS. It is a Deadly fearful Plague to them. This Man May have Had it & also for this reason was Let go. Quien Sabes?

Bear these thoughts in mind as we review our first case of teleportation.

On the morning of October 25, 1593, relates Don Luis Gonzales Obregon, in Las Calles de Mexico, a soldier suddenly appeared in the Plaza Mayor of Mexico City; a soldier dressed in the uniform of the regiment which at that moment was guarding the walled citadel of Manila, in the Philippine Islands.

With the soldier's strange appearance came the rumor that his Excellency, Gomez Peres Dasmartinas, Governor of the Philippines, was dead. A preposterous rumor, of course! But one that spread through the city like wildfire.

Puzzled as to how the soldier could have traveled more than nine thousand miles without so much as soiling his uniform, the authorities nevertheless jailed him as a deserter from the Philippines regiment.

Weeks passed while the soldier languished in prison; the long slow weeks necessary for new to travel by sailing ship from the Philippines to Acapulco, then by messenger across the sky-high mountains and into the valley of Mexico.

Suddenly, Mexico City was quaking with news. His Excellency, the Governor of the Philippines was dead, murdered by a mutinous Chinese crew off Punta de Azufre shortly after he had left his island home on a military expedition against the Moluccas! Moreover, he had been murdered on the very day the Philippine soldier had appeared in the Plaza of Mexico City.

The Holy Tribunal of the Inquisition took charge of the soldier. He could not tell them how he had been transported from Manila to Mexico. Only that it had been "in less time than it takes a cock to crow." Nor could he tell them how it had come to pass that Mexico City was buzzing with the news of the Governor's death, even before it was known in Manila.

Time of battle. = each inch of the way.

At order of the Holy Tribunal, the soldier was returned to the Philippines for further investigation into the mysterious matter. Irrefutable witnesses came forward to swear that the soldier had been on duty in the Island City on the night of October 24; just as it had been proved beyond doubt that on the following morning he had been apprehended in the Plaza of Mexico City, more than nine thousand miles away.

"Froze" or Semi-Froze, time not recognized.

A Legend? Not according to the records of the chroniclers of the Order of San Augustin and the order of Santo Domingo. Not according to Dr. Antonio de Morga, high justice of the criminal court of the Royal Audiencia of New Spain, in his Sucesos do las Islas Filipinas.

This case of this peripatetic soldier is one where we can tie down both ends of a teleportation peripatetic my eye. He fought Like a Mad-Man & could not be taken aboard, so he was Let-down. They kept his rifle, though axis, if indeed it is teleportation. We can find unexplained disappearances and appearances, but, offhand, we don't know of others just like this one. And it seems as though there may be several debatable disappearances. But what are you going to do with apports, or appearances? It seems to me that they are a sort of second order phenomenon, unless they can be connected somehow with corresponding disappearances, some place. Shall we settle for a kidnapping by UFO's?

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

ART FOUR - b

www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_flyingobjects03h2.htm#The H

A dead "sea serpent" was found at sea in early 1880, and sailors danced on its upturned belly. Something similar, like a turtle sixty feet long and forty feet wide was reported in the New Zealand Times, in December 1883, and there were several reports of huge marine animals during the comet years.

A dead "sea serpent" was found at sea in early 1880, and sailors danced on its upturned belly. Something similar, like a turtle sixty feet long and forty feet wide was reported in the New Zealand Times, in December 1883, and there were several reports of huge marine animals during the comet years.

IF SO CALLED "SEA MONSTER OR SERPENT WAS A L-M SHIP IT IS STILL THERE UNDERSEA IF IF S-Ms
NEUTRALIZED IT: THE L-MS WILL NOT HAVE COME BACK OR CALLED FOR IT. IN S-M TERRITORY.

... Jessups' work acquires interesting aspects given the fact that three persons called; A, B and Jemi had annotated the original work with a lot of comments each using a different color ink to identify each other ... there is a lot of ground covered by the annotators ... sometimes they appear brilliant ... sometimes annoying ... sometimes incredibly ignorant ... sometimes totally oblivious to the facts Jessup talks about and the information that can be understood from the events that happened ... for example if as above the dead sea serpent was indeed an UFO; are they implying UFO are living entities??? ... and they seem very knowledgeable about Indian mythology without seeming to know who Colonel James Churchward was nor his relationship to India ... I do not believe that A, B and Jemi were gypsies ...

... take the case of the teleportation mentioned by Jessup ... their comments make no sense ... this was the first recorded actual case of teleportation ... looks like if someone teleports; then some events information from that persons' space and time also manifest in the new location they appear in ... the news of the Philippines Governor being killed also got teleported with the soldier to Mexico City ... very valuable bit of data .. maybe A, B and Jemi are fully correct and nothing other than their comments are important ... still one would like to think and analyze for themselves ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

PART THREE - b

www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_flyingobjects03g2.htm#Leger

Now let us consider the hieroglyphs from an Egyptian papyrus, together with a translation by Boris de Rachewiltz. De Rachewiltz says that the original is a part of the Royal Annals of the times of Thutmose III, circa 1504-1450 BC, and that the original is in bad condition. Parts were too obliterated for translation.

In the year 22, third month of winter, sixth hour of the day (..2..)

The scribes of the House of Life found it was a circle of fire that was coming in the sky. (though) it had no head, the breath of its mouth (had) a foul odor. Its body one 'rod' long and one 'rod' large. It had no voice. Their hearts became confused through it: then they laid themselves on their bellies (..3..)

They went to the King..? to report it. His Majesty ordered (..4..) has been examined (..5..) as to all which is written in the papyrus rolls of the House of Life His Majesty was meditating upon what happened. Now, after some days had passed over those things, Lo! They were more numerous than "anything" They were shining in the sky more than the Sun to the limits of the four supports of heaven (..6..)

Powerful was the position of the fire circles. The army of the King looked on and His Majesty was in the midst of it. It was after supper. Thereupon they (the fire circles) went up higher directed to the south. Fishes and volatiles fell down from the sky. (it was) a marvel never occurred since the foundation of this land. Caused His Majesty to brought incense to pacify the hearth (..9..) (to write?) what happened in the book of the House of Life (..10..) (to be remembered?) for the Eternity.

To this added the following comment from the translator:

As you can see from (the translation) the "flying saucers" made their first appearance in the 22nd year of the reign of Thutmose III, about 3,500 years ago. The first lacuna of the papyrus in the end of another marvel. I think that this papyrus was part of a book preserved in the mysterious institution called House of Life (of which Sir Alan Gardner has written), that I am actually deeply investigating. In it, magic rites were performed and a special group of scribes was trained.

Two things have to be noticed: it left after a foul odor and it was not making any noise. It measures one rod, i.e. 100 cubit. As a cubit is about 20.6 inches we might judge the fire circle was large and long, about fifty meters. During their second appearance they were very numerous and shining, and fishes and volatiles fell down from the sky. And their movements through the sky, from north to south, was regular, and, more than that, powerful! Therefore the king thought that the best thing to do was to pacify the hearth of Ammon Ra, Lord of the Thrones of the Two Lands (Egypt).

This record is a part of the archives of a responsible government. The event was unusual enough to warrant inscribing in the archives, and to have the past records searched for precedent. The descriptions are concise, although the vacant places are annoying in their omissions. De Rachewiltz's comments, supplementing his translation, indicate an interpretation similar to that which we, ourselves, might make.

However we find it difficult to resist pointing out some of the elements of this event, which are so typical of the reports in current sightings. Silence of operation for one thing. Foul odor. In size, this UFO was said to be about one hundred cubits, which is about 172 feet long. The fact that two equal dimensions were given indicating (perhaps) equal length and breadth implies disc shape. In any case it was described as a fire circle, indicating its shape, and that flames were associated with it as has so often been the case.

The exact nature of the flames is of course unknown to us; they may have been electrical discharges which would have been strange to the Egyptians of 1500 BC and would have been recorded as ordinary flames. As in our modern sightings, there was sometimes one object and sometimes a group or flock. They were shining, and by this it seems we can infer that they were luminous.

One other thing is obvious from this Egyptian record; that mechanical flight, if it had been previously known to the Egyptians, or to their progenitors, was Already a completely lost science in 1500 BC. It is in line with our thinking that the Egyptians were merely another one of the trickles through the dyke of time from the previous great wave of civilization.

These describe the Great Activity & Undersea building (to a small inference) of the "Chain Cities" and too, the S-M's resistance to the L-M's in the "Small War" after "great Return."

Now let us consider the hieroglyphs from an Egyptian papyrus, together with a translation by Boris de Rachewiltz. De Rachewiltz says that the original is a part of the Royal Annals of the times of Thutmose III, circa 1504-1450 BC, and that the original is in bad condition. Parts were too obliterated for translation.

In the year 22, third month of winter, sixth hour of the day (..2..) The scribas of the House of Life found it was a circle of fire that was coming in the sky. (though) it had no head, the breath of its mouth (had) a foul odor. Its body one 'rod' long and one 'rod' large. It had no voice. Their hearts became confused through it: then they laid themselves on their bellies (..3..) They went to the King..? to report it. His Majesty ordered (..4..) has been examined (..5..) as to all which is written in the papyrus rolls of the House of Life His Majesty was meditating upon what happened. Now, after some days had passed over those things, Lo! They were more numerous than "anything" They were shining in the sky more than the Sun to the limits of the four supports of heaven (..6..) Powerful was the position of the fire circles. The army of the King looked on and His Majesty was in the midst of it. It was after supper. Thereupon they (the fire circles) went up higher directed to the south. Fishes and volatiles fell down from the sky. (it was) a marvel never occurred since the foundation of this land. Caused His Majesty to brought incense to pacify the hearth (..9..) (to write?) what happened in the ook of the House of Life (..10..) (to be remembered?) for the Eternity.

ole TITMOUSE SAW "The Great Return: a Story you know very Well.

He saw Group "Coat" Burnings of Whole Convey.

in Great Return, one ship payed-call in Titmouses towns peopole (sic). was Honored & received Graciously. even if at first somewhat fearfully. Like sun Worshipers the World over.

... here A, B and Jemi tell us that about UFO returning back home ... and undersea city building as the new habitats ... as you read further through the attached screensnips you will gather some good information of a technical nature also ... my opinion is to take their comments together with everything else ... capture as much understanding as possible ... truth sometimes hides inside lies ...

To this added the following comment from the translator:

As you can see from (the translation) the "flying saucers" made their first appearance in the 22nd year of the reign of Thutmose III, about 3,500 years ago. The first lacuna of the papyrus in the end of another marvel. I think that this papyrus was part of a book preserved in the mysterious institution called House of Life (of which Sir Alan Gardner has written), that I am actually deeply investigating. In it, magic rites were performed and a special group of scribes was trained.

Two things have to be noticed: it left after a foul odor and it was not making any noise. It measures one rod, i.e. 100 cubit. As a cubit is about 20.6 inches we might judge the fire circle was large and long, about fifty meters. During their second appearance they were very numerous and shining, and fishes and volatiles fell down from the sky. And their movements through the sky, from north to south, was regular, and, more than that, powerful! Therefore the king thought that the best thing to do was to pacify the hearth of Ammon Ra, Lord of the Thrones of the Two Lands (Egypt).

This record is a part of the archives of a responsible government. The event was unusual enough to warrant inscribing in the archives, and to have the past records searched for precedent. The descriptions are concise, although the vacant places are annoying in their omissions. De Rachewiltz's comments, supplementing his translation, indicate an interpretation similar to that which we, ourselves, might make.

However we find it difficult to resist pointing out some of the elements of this event, which are so typical of the reports in current sightings. Silence of operation for one thing. Foul odor. In size, this UFO was said to be about one hundred cubits, which is about 172 feet long. The fact that two equal dimensions were given indicating (perhaps) equal length and breadth implies disc shape. In any case it was described as a fire circle, indicating its shape, and that flames were associated with it as has so often been the case. The exact nature of the flames is of course unknown to us; they may have been electrical discharges which would have been strange to the Egyptians of 1500 BC and would have been recorded as ordinary flames. As in our modern sightings, there was sometimes one object and sometimes a group or flock. They were shining, and by this it seems we can infer that they were luminous.

LAMINATED METAL, COVERED BY SHEET-DIAMOND?

One other thing is obvious from this Egyptian record; that mechanical flight, if it had been previously known to the Egyptians, or to their progenitors, was Already a completely lost science in 1500 BC. It is in line with our thinking that the Egyptians were merely another one of the trickles through the dyke of time from the previous great wave of civilization.

The records of Tibet, however, seem to be more complete than those of Egypt, and more ancient. Perhaps it is because the mountain fastnesses of Tibet and Northern India have not been subjected to the burnings and other destructive activities of Western civilization which annihilated the libraries of the Egyptians and the Mayas.

TRUE

If one may judge from his writings, Colonel James Churchward, in a lifetime of study, Learned something of the lore which is stored in the Tibetan monasteries, and supplemented this with studies throughout the world.

Churchward says that he came upon many records ranging back to at least 200,000 years. One of his most fascinating finds relates to mechanical flight, brought to India by the first settlers, and its antiquity may be anything from 15,000 to 200,000 years, with the longer term the more likely. It is Churchward's deduction that India was settled by Nagas from Burma, who, in their turn, were descendents of the original Mayas of the "motherland," common ancestors of the Naga and the Central American Maya. This settlement must have taken place about 70,000 years ago, and it seems most probable that mechanical flight came from the "Motherland."

Not know Churchward. If then he has seen so ancient writs, then he KNEW Why we do Not War.
Nor ever Worry & Why each of us knows or Day of Death AND THAT WE ONCE RULERS THEN WERE SLAVES.

Here, by mechanical flight, we most certainly mean something different either our lighter than air or heavier than air flight mechanisms of today. That the flight of those millennia employed a type of power unknown today, "seems almost certain." Whatever the source of that power was it did not involve power plants as we know them today, and apparently did not result in a truly mechanical or industrialized civilization such as we have. That this power source worked on some principle of levitation or gravity nullification seems logical. It may be, too, that such a force or power does not lend itself to industry.

IT DOES. FROM LIFE-BOAT POWER IS XXXXX
BUILT "SCOUT & SO. ON UP TO Great Arks

(XXXXX getting too close for comfort XXXXXX ?)¹ phraseology indicates Lack of courage. Not Worry, Jemi.

An Hindu Manuscript of ancient origin says: "When morning dawned, Rama, taking the celestial car which Pushpaka had sent him by Vivishand, stood ready to depart; self moving was this car; it was large and finely "painted." It had two stories, and many chambers with windows, and was draped with flags and banners. It gave forth a melodious sound as it coursed along its airy way."

This was written millennia ago – and this translation was made before the modern age of mechanical flight. If the translation had been made by a person with the technical training available in 1955, it would read like this:

When dawn came, Rama took the flying machine with Pushpaka had sent to him by Vivishand, and stood by to take off. This machine was self-propelled, large and finely-finished. It was a two-decker, with many compartments having windows, and was draped with flags and pennants. As the machine flew it made a humming or droning sound.

NO: Had TWO EQUALLY SHAPED HALVES; LOOKED UP AT FROM GROUND IT SEEMED ---- TO BE OF
TWO PARTS _____ as hereon.

There is another Hindu manuscript dated 500 BC, which has been translated as follows:

Rawan (Ravan?), King of Ceylon, flew over the enemy's army and dropped bombs, causing many casualties. Eventually Rawan was captured and slain, and his flying machine fell into the hands of the Hindu Chieftain, Ram Chandra (Rama), who flew it all the way back to his Capital in northern India.

No, Not bombs: Rocks or "Frozen" air, or 'Coat" Burnings.

Both of these manuscripts seem to have been taken from the same temple records at Ayhodia and refer to a time at least 20,000 years ago.

¹ Parenthesis, markouts, and question mark by A

During time before "The Ice"?

It is from this material that we come to the conclusion that space flight is not a new phenomenon, but rather a lost art!

XXXXXXXXXX that I can "remember."

Therefore, I strongly recommend that legislation be enacted to once to assign qualified researchers to the field of gravity. There, and not in atoms, shall we discover the secret of the true flight into space.

a circular pattern of Bar Magnets 342 of them, HAVE NO WEIGHT if they are attached to a common Sheet of Metal

& are XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX¹

In short, THEY FLOAT IN THE AIR, all 900 lbs of them, XXXXXXXXXXXX^{1&2}

2

(In center, I wish were one Drive-inductor.³ Boy! oh Boy!

ED: The following note appears on 111 above PART FOUR.

"And a Little Child shall lead them" Nothing describes a LITTLE-MANS basic Nature so well as that Description. They are childlike in Many Many Ways. So Much so as to easily be mistaken for children WHEN they are Mature-youngs.

¹ A over B

² By B

³By Jemi

Part 4. ... PETER KHOURY ...

... It is to the sheer presence of mind displayed by UFO abductee; Peter Khoury, to whom and which I personally think and feel we owe an immense debt gratitude that simply cannot be repaid ... Peter was able to retrieve the silvery colored hair of an UFO based resident / occupant person ... the hair sample was analyzed with DNA analysis which had pointed to the person of UFO origin ... as being from the Earth ... the screensnip on the following page is from <https://bibliotecapleyades.net> ... and there is a wealth of material on the incident and also on the DNA analysis ... for me the Peter Khoury abduction reinforces my opinion taken from Jessups' original insights that the UFO are from terrestrial past and the UFO along with their residents / occupants have returned sensing safer conditions for their residents / occupants on Earth ... and more importantly the UFO residents / occupants [as we see them presently] look like the rest of The Human Family ... with that one insight I was amazed at the thoughts that shaped up in my mind; which are expressed in the part of this report after the part on Ingo Swann ... between Compassion and anything else; Compassion triumphs always ... The Human Family has progressed remarkably because of Compassion ... the members of The Human Family who are of the UFO residents / occupants origins are endowed with Telepathic abilities and strengths ... this is a remarkable combination that invigorates and strengthens both members of The Human Family into becoming and being an unbeatable lifeforms ... no matter where the future takes The Human Family thus enriched ... please read up on Peter Khoury abduction and enrich your mind more ... before the Peter Khoury abduction; it was possible only through hypnosis to know if someone was abducted ... thus you see the value and importance of the Peter Khoury presence of mind displayed and the tangible "hands on" "hold" "touch and feel" "see it with ones' own eyes" etc., of the evidence obtained ... we shall now go on to Ingo Swann ...

The World's First DNA PCR Investigation of Biological Evidence From an Alien Abduction

by Bill Chalker

Anomaly Physical Evidence Group (APEG)

Source: Hard Evidence Magazine Vol.1 No.2 Pgs 12-16

2001

from AustralianUFOResearchNetwork Website

A Sydney, Australia abduction experience from 1992, with biological evidence, became the subject of the world's first DNA PCR "alien abduction" related investigation, yielding intriguing results that have suggested fascinating new lines of investigation and speculation.

Born in 1964, in Lebanon, Peter Khoury migrated to Australia in 1973. He met his future wife, Vivian in 1981, marrying in 1990. They have 2 children. What might be Peter's first encounter with a UFO occurred in Lebanon in the summer of 1971 at age 7.

He and seven other children had gone up onto the flat rooftop of his neighbor's house to play. Peter was the last to walked through a heavy door that leads onto the roof. He then saw all his friends "frozen" like statues in front of him, while a silent egg-shaped craft hovered above.

All eight children later found themselves on the ground floor after some time had elapsed, with no memory of the intervening period.

In Sydney, during February 1988, Peter and Vivian saw a strange light doing extraordinary movements in conjunction with a beam of light effect.

Bill Chalker

Peter & Vivian Khoury

A frightening and life changing alien abduction experience occurred on July 12, 1988. Khoury had lay on a bed and was overwhelmed by paralysis. A number of beings became apparent around him. One of them, a tall thin golden yellow colored being, with large black eyes, inserted a long needle like object into the side of his head. Khoury blackout.

He regained consciousness with a start and rushed into the adjoining room where he found other family members in a "switched-off" state. Rousing them, Khoury found that while they thought only some 10 minutes had passed, in reality it seemed between 1 to 2 hours had passed. An injury to his head was verified.

At that time Peter Khoury had no real context to anchor his disturbing experience. Eventually he became aware of abduction experiences and entered the UFO field to initially understand what happened to him. Eventually, frustrated with the problems and politics that plagued his association with ufology he formed a support group - the UFO Experience Support Association (UFOESA) during April, 1993.

Despite trying to focus on supporting others, Peter Khoury found that strange experiences had continued for him. In retrospect, the most striking one occurred on July 23, 1992, according to diary entries.

He had been recovering from head injuries received in a job site assault (he worked in the building industry in his own cement rendering business). At about 7 am, having returned to his Sydney suburban home from the train station, after dropping off his wife, Khoury felt unwell and lay down on the bed to sleep. He awoke with a start sometime later, becoming aware of something alighting on the bed. He was shocked to see two strange women kneeling on the end of his bed.

Both were naked. One appeared Nordic and the other Asian. Aspects of their appearance were quite odd. The Nordic female had a very elongated face and a sharply point chin. Her eyes appeared to be blue and 2 to 3 times larger than normal. She had very fine wispy blonde hair that seemed to be oddly blown up. Her skin color was quite light.

The dark brown skinned Asian looking woman seemed to have almost completely black eyes. Her hair was black and set in a firm page-boy style.

An artists impression of the two alien females

Although no normal communication occurred, the Nordic woman seemed to be in charge and Khoury got the impression she was giving the Asian looking woman some sort of instruction.

Part 5. ... INGO SWANN ...

... it is not possible [at least for me] to write about Ingo Swann ... please read through the following pages and the screensnips as they contain important words and descriptions from Ingo Swann; all the screensnips taken from the website ... <https://bibliotecapleyades.net> ... everything you may already know about telepathy and other psychic abilities ... you will appreciate it all better through the simple and effective descriptions by Ingo Swann ... I will mention only two things regarding psychic research, topics etc., in the United States ... first one is about the efforts of Dr. Abrams regarding thought transference ... the psychic journey by Colonel James Churchward together with his teacher ... the Electrical Experimenter magazine has an issue which has a device called the "Thought Recorder" shown on its cover ... I had mentioned these three things because Ingo Swann was disappointed with the lack of true interest in the United States regarding psychic research ... while in Tiflis, Georgia in 1919 an event happened of a psychical nature that Ingo Swann mentions as starting a true scientific attempt to understand psychical phenomena ... the contribution of Ingo Swann is immense and puts the scientific method into understanding telepathy ... please read the screensnips thoroughly and then works of Ingo Swann ... what it all boils down to is this ... telepathy is real ... one can go anywhere in the universe and see places and come back ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

Put simply, for there is no other way to put it, the superpowers of the human biomind are defined as those indwelling faculties of our species which can transcend space and time as one major category of activity, and energy and matter as another major category.

The concept that human powers and perceptions are locked into and only accord with the known laws of matter and energy and time is not correct - although such has been the dominant concept of the last two centuries.

The full extent of our species faculties of memory, for example, transcend the known laws of matter and time, as do the faculties for human imagination. Memory and imagination, therefore, are among the many superpowers - although they have not been identified this way within the prevailing wisdom of the Modern Age.

In addition to memory and imagination which are universally shared by all specimens of our species, the several formats of intuition and of the telepathic transfer of information are also very broadly shared.

These first four of the superpowers are accepted as naturally existing, although they cannot be explained by conventional beliefs based in conventional concepts of matter and time.

But it is understood that these first four of the superpowers recombine into creativity and inventiveness -- and which have been the two major hallmarks of our species from time immemorial.

The superpowers are probably arranged along some kind of perceptual-cognitive spectrum, the fundamentals or rudiments of which are carried by all born individuals.

This spectrum also consists of other indwelling faculties which are less broadly shared in their natural state, but which seem to need special development if they are to become active.

Remote viewing (distant-seeing) constitutes one of these more rare superpowers, and is a topic of central focus at this site because of the many years of research and development devoted to it.

It can easily be shown that cognitive access to this spectrum is easily modified positively or negatively by social parameters and pressures.

It can also be shown that discussion of the superpowers within the contexts of past and present social parameters is counterproductive regarding the much larger issue of the existence of the superpowers themselves. Such social parameters come and go, being only transitory.

The existence of the superpowers as a species thing transcends social formats and their levels and/or defects of knowledge. The faculties for the superpowers are therefore permanent within our species.

Each generation of humans born is a carrier of the faculties, equally as much as it is a carrier of our species' gene pool.

It is not the purpose of this site to convince anyone that the superpowers exist.

The only purpose is to present an extended database - this, for what it is worth to anyone.

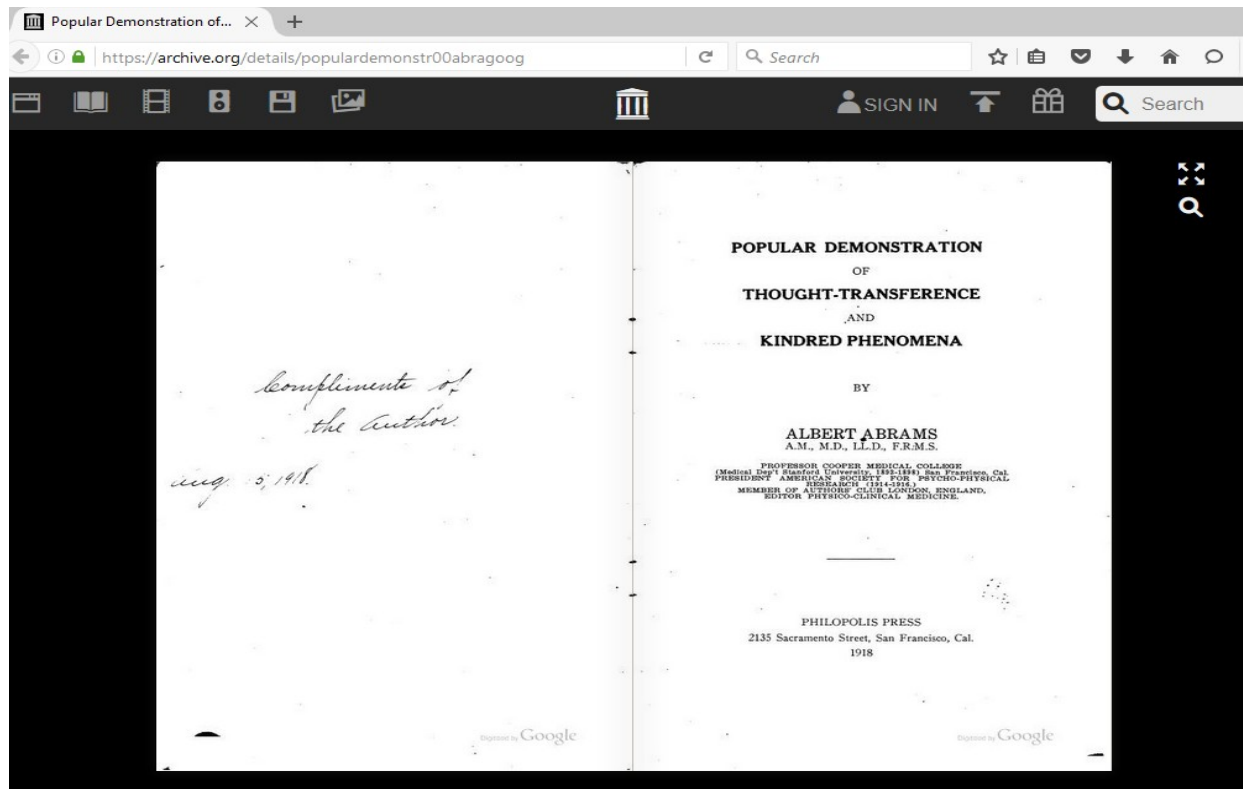

- Ingo Swann

Ingo Swann died Friday, February 1, 2013;
the grandfather of Remote Viewing.

Swann, Ingo (1933-2013)

He is no doubt moving into the other realms with grace.

May he journey well...

Popular Demonstration of Thought-transference and Kindred Phenomena

... by Albert Abrams

Published 1918

SHOW MORE

Book digitized by Google from the library of University of Michigan and uploaded to the Internet Archive by user tpb.

Publisher Philopolis Press

Year 1918

Pages 14

Possible copyright status NOT_IN_COPYRIGHT

Language English

Digitizing sponsor Google

Book from the collections of University of Michigan

Collection americana

DOWNLOAD OPTIONS

ABBY GZ	1 file
DAISY	1 file
EPUB	1 file
FULL TEXT	1 file
KINDLE	1 file
PDF	1 file
SINGLE PAGE PROCESSED JP2 ZIP	1 file
TORRENT	1 file

SHOW ALL 12 Files
5 Original

Reviews

Add Review

There are no reviews yet. Be the first one to write a review.

In Collection
American Libraries

Chapter 47

WHAT DOES ONE USE FOR EYES IF ONE IS OUT OF BODY?

What with all of the socializing, parties, lionizing, meetings and the hints of secret activity going on, it might seem as if no RESEARCH was getting done.

This was not the case at all. I was, and am, a workaholic, demanding perfection or at least the best possible -- as was Janet Mitchell, Dr. Schmeidler, and, in a somewhat lesser sense, Dr. Osis. And with a sort of renewed enthusiasm, we proceeded to produce experiments of several kinds at the ASPR.

In order to throw my weight around within my newfound glory, I suggested that we meet and TALK about what we were doing. Here was a subtle shift -- because experimenters typically DID NOT talk about experiments with subjects any more than experimenters would discuss experiments with rats or guinea pigs.

As I explained (and was also later to explain in far more impressive surroundings), it was one thing to set up experiments merely to see if certain phenomena existed.

But something else was involved IF researchers wanted performance from their subjects. How could a subject really attempt something if the subject had no idea of what was involved?

Running a rat through an experiment designed to reward the rat with food if it did what was wanted -- well that was one kind of experiment.

Running a human being through an experiment designed only to please the experimenters' expectations, an experiment with NO reward for the human subject if it did what was wanted -- well, that was ANOTHER kind of experiment.

Rats and guinea pigs got food as a reward for succeeding. Human subjects got . . . (nothing, perhaps a brief word of praise). I suggested that subjects who succeeded should be given a one-carat diamond. THAT ought to inspire them.

But more seriously, because of my long-term studies of the literature, I had noted a definite lack of interest in what Psi perceptions consisted of.

After all, psychics do not utilize their physical eye mechanisms to see what they "see." In the first instance, it seemed that their "seeing" depended on mental image pictures, although many in the past had said that they didn't "see" anything, but merely "sensed" whatever they did.

Some said they "heard" whatever they "sensed" -- and not a few had said that the "information" came from their toes or armpits -- or some other unusual anatomical place or part.

Even in my own case regarding the formal eight out-of-body experiments the inner ASPR clique tried to demolish, I didn't "see" all of the time. Sometimes I had clear, sharp mental image pictures, other times a preponderance of fleeting, non-visual "impressions." At other times all was foggy, or simply black, but with a sense of information "coming through" anyway. One day after a particularly good result had been achieved, and before the ASPR feathers hit the fan, Dr. Osis had grown silent and pensive. He sat down and wound his legs together like two snakes, put his chin on his hand and looked at me with piercing eyes.

"I vonder, Eengo," he began, "vat ju use for eyes [pronounced `ice'] ven ju are OOB."

"Jes," I responded. "Zat's a very good question, eesn't it?"

We had not gotten around to going any further with this back then. But now, back in the saddle at the ASPR, I did decide that we should spend some time looking deeper into this. This activity would comprise part of the 50 percent time guaranteed to me under our new working arrangement.

I have already mentioned in an earlier chapter that Dr. Carole Silfen had been brought into the ASPR work. She was a perceptual psychologist, and so Janet and I met with her and handed over to her the guidelines for this type of thing.

Dr. Silfen was a small woman with fine black hair I remember as naturally curly. She had pale olive skin that came off as pallor and dressed in a way that was neither fashionable nor unfashionable.

She was delighted, saying "Mostly I'm asked to overview other people's ideas, and no one asks me for suggestions or creative guidance. Parapsychologists are not interested in the

Chapter 16

THE "PICTURE DRAWINGS" AND MY FIRST "AMBIGUOUS SUCCESS" - NOVEMBER 24, 1971

My sketches of the concealed practice targets were now referred to simply as "picture drawings."

The picture drawings and descriptions of the targets were, as was to be expected, being circulated among the staff of the ASPR who were beginning to "ooh" and "aah."

So the news of these informal successes began going out into gossip lines -- and into the extensive combined networks of "my local espionage community" of Zelda, Buell, the Wingates and the Bennetts.

It needs to be stipulated that researchers were quite used to experiencing subjects' responses which did not at all correlate with ESP targets. So any shred of correlation was always made much of.

In my own estimation, most of the first picture drawings were actually not all that good when compared with the targets. I considered them as revealing some minimal kind of perceptual contact with the targets, but only in a kind of ambiguous way. Enough of the targets could be seen in them though. And so everyone was experiencing tremors of encouragement. Then came the experiment of November 24, 1971.

My archives show that I arrived at the ASPR with a light head cold, and Janet's record of the experiment indicates that I did it with a runny nose.

This, of course, was not considered ideal. For I could not wipe the nose dribble because doing so would disrupt the brainwave charts. But $50 were at stake, and it didn't really matter if I did well or not because the session was still a practice "run."

I now regret that images and pictures cannot be introduced into the text at this point. If this book was assisted by illustrations there would be over fifty of them. These would need to be scanned, and so the cost would add up.

But I'll do my best to describe the targets and my sketched responses. The targets were not yet being photographed, but Janet made a sketch of their layouts during the session. She NEVER knew what the targets were in advance.

My picture drawing shows that I did not "see" five of the seven of the target items. The target tray contained a pencil, a small yellow plastic dipper, a subway token, and a small cross. I did not indicate those in my sketch.

But my picture drawing contained a smallish rectangle, identified as red, a "something" which was indicated to be about 1/2-inch thick. This target turned out to be a small, red address book which was of that thickness.

My picture drawing also indicated a circle, identified as "red or pink." Inside the circle in my picture drawing I had indicated a TU or a UT thing which was black. If the UT or TU thing had been joined together by one more strokes, it would have made the number 5.

When the target tray was taken down, it did contain an off-colored red circle (of paper) in the center of which was a largish number 5.

Everyone was very impressed, almost into silence -- as was I. But I immediately told Janet and Osis: "This has to get better than this, or we will only end up with yet another of those 'statistically significant' experiments." The kind just minimally above "chance expectation."

You will note that my "perceptual mind" did not quite identify the figure of the 5, but that I got its elements. In other words, I had no cognitive idea that the figure was a 5, but I felt that my perceptual processes should have known that.

As a result of this yet ambiguous "success" I began thinking that there existed a hidden extrasensory perceptual system that functioned with rules and a logic of its own. And that THIS system functioned beneath the levels of conscious control of it. In other words, the perceptual process was SUBLIMINAL.

In my mind, the question arose as to how or why the cognitive intellect (which could have identified the 5) did not MATCH the subliminal perceptual processes which produced the UT. Turn the UT on its side and it will assume the basic shape of the 5.

I'm now going to ask you to remember, even memorize, the three paragraphs just above, or the three enumerated concepts just below -- for upon them rests almost the entire future creation of America's remote viewing spies.

Think of this as follows:

- (1) A hidden extrasensory perceptual SYSTEM that functions with rules and a logic of its own;
- (2) How the cognitive, conscious mind interfaces (or does not) with that hidden system; and
- (3) Can the INTERFACING be improved?

Without considering the implications contained in the two trios above, you will never understand what remote viewing is. And, as well, you will never understand the basis for anything which goes under the heading of INTUITION.

My picture drawing shows that I did not "see" five of the seven of the target items. The target tray contained a pencil, a small yellow plastic dipper, a subway token, and a small cross. I did not indicate those in my sketch. But my picture drawing contained a smallish rectangle, identified as red, a "something" which was indicated to be about 1/2-inch thick. This target turned out to be a small, red address book which was of that thickness.

My picture drawing also indicated a circle, identified as "red or pink." Inside the circle in my picture drawing I had indicated a TU or a UT thing which was black. If the UT or TU thing had been joined together by one more strokes, it would have made the number 5.

When the target tray was taken down, it did contain an off-colored red circle (of paper) in the center of which was a largish number 5.

Everyone was very impressed, almost into silence -- as was I. But I immediately told Janet and Osis: "This has to get better than this, or we will only end up with yet another of those 'statistically significant' experiments." The kind just minimally above "chance expectation."

You will note that my "perceptual mind" did not quite identify the figure of the 5, but that I got its elements. In other words, I had no cognitive idea that the figure was a 5, but I felt that my perceptual processes should have known that.

As a result of this yet ambiguous "success" I began thinking that there existed a hidden extrasensory perceptual system that functioned with rules and a logic of its own. And that THIS system functioned beneath the levels of conscious control of it.

In other words, the perceptual process was SUBLIMINAL.

In my mind, the question arose as to how or why the cognitive intellect (which could have identified the 5) did not MATCH the subliminal perceptual processes which produced the UT. Turn the UT on its side and it will assume the basic shape of the 5.

I'm now going to ask you to remember, even memorize, the three paragraphs just above, or the three enumerated concepts just below -- for upon them rests almost the entire future creation of America's remote viewing spies.

Think of this as follows:

- (1) A hidden extrasensory perceptual SYSTEM that functions with rules and a logic of its own;
- (2) How the cognitive, conscious mind interfaces (or does not) with that hidden system; and
- (3) Can the INTERFACING be improved?

Without considering the implications contained in the two trios above, you will never understand what remote viewing is.

And, as well, you will never understand the basis for anything which goes under the heading of INTUITION.

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... x +
 www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm Search

The thrill of the idea was to get psychically to Jupiter before the NASA vehicles did. If this worked even somewhat, it was a kind of psychic one-upsmanship. The experiment was done on personal time, on a Saturday, a non-working day. But it was wrapped in very stringent protocols. At first, the very-long-distance (VLD) experiment was not to be an official one.

But the remote-viewing raw data had to be recorded somehow, so that it could be established that it existed prior to the NASA vehicles getting to the planet.

So, at the conclusion of the experiment, copies of the raw data were circulated far and wide, offered to and accepted by many respected scientists in the Silicon Valley area, including two at Jet Propulsion Laboratories. Some scientists, of course, thought the entire idea ridiculous, but these were fewer than one might expect.

For the experiment to be considered successful in any way, the remote viewing data had to include impressions of factors that were not known about the great planet - lest one be accused of reading up beforehand.

As to the raw data itself, this ended up consisting of one page of sketches, and two and a half pages of verbal observations.

The raw data yielded thirteen factors, and only thirteen, all of which were scientifically unanticipated before they were confirmed by later analysis of the scientific data.

These raw data factors are enumerated below, accompanied by the dates they were confirmed.

1. The existence of a hydrogen mantle: Confirmed September 1973, again in 1975.
2. Storms, wind: Confirmed 1976 as to dimensions and unexpected intensities.
3. Something like a tornado: Confirmed 1976 as strong rotating cy clones.
4. High infrared reading: Confirmed 1974.
5. Temperature inversion: Confirmed 1975.
6. Cloud color and configuration: Confirmed 1979.
7. Dominant orange color: Confirmed 1979.
8. Water/ice crystals in atmosphere: Confirmed 1975.
9. Crystal bands reflect radio probes: Confirmed 1975.
10. Magnetic and electromagnetic auroras ("rainbows"): Confirmed 1975.
11. A planetary RING inside the atmosphere: Confirmed 1979, not only as to its existence, but as being inside the crystallized atmospheric layers.
12. Liquid composition: Confirmed 1973, 1976, as hydrogen in liquid form.
13. Mountains and solid core: Still questionable, but suspected as of 1991.

Six of these thirteen factors were given scientific substantiation by 1975, which is the year that the events narrated in this book begin.

It needs to be pointed up that before it was actually discovered in 1979, most scientists flatly denounced the possibility of the RING, but which had been sketched in the raw data acquired in 1973. And just recently the existence of more refined rings has been confirmed.

For me, the Jupiter experiment effected a cure of my experimental doldrums for a number of reasons.

- For one thing, the trip and the sightseeing there were awesome experiences. This was a kind of profound aesthetic impact that can inspire one for many of years.
- For another thing, as confirmation feedback began coming in during September, 1973, in the form of scientific announcements, the gossip lines shifted from cold ridicule and began heating up. Lots of notables began coming to lunch at SRI in order to get grounded with the possibilities.
- For yet another thing, the CIA, of course, was interested in the possibilities of psychic spying. Although the planetary experiment had not been done on the Company's funded time, it now seemed that the project at SRI was excitedly on the right track.

The Jupiter Probe also received wide media coverage, although not in scientific journals, of course. But then there are all types of people who view science much in the same way that science has traditionally viewed parapsychology.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... x +

www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm Search ☆ 📁 📧 ⬇️ 🏠

"But one day, in 1973, I was swimming in a pool in the apartment complex where I was staying in Mountain View, which is near Palo Alto and Menlo Park where SRI is located. I had been wondering how we could identify a distant target in some other fashion than by its name.

"In the water, I laid back against the edge of the pool and tried to envision something which had escaped me. I suddenly saw a map with coordinates-ordinates on it, you know this degree East and that degree North, A 'voice' of some kind said (in my mind, of course), 'try coordinates'

"So, I got the idea that if someone gave me a set of coordinate-ordinates they might act as a focus of some kind. At first my SRI colleagues thought this was silly, but I insisted we give it a good try. At first this didn't work too well either, but after about fifty tries, it began to pay off."

"Can you explain why coordinates seem to work better than other ways of specifying a target?" Axel asked.

"No one understands this at all, and neither do I. The criticism is that coordinates are only arbitrary sets of numbers and as such bear little real meaning to the actual physicality of the site.

"But my explanation, if it is one, is that people do find their way around the world by using coordinates. And since this is so, then there is no real reason why one cannot use them to find their way in a psychic voyage, As a kind of focus, so to speak."

Mr. Axelrod grew pensive for a moment.

"There would seem to be more to it than that. Surely you've thought about it?"

I hesitated. "It's a bit difficult to articulate," Axelrod brightened up, "Try me"

"Well, I have to introduce the possibility of... Well, we are educated to believe that thought takes place only inside of one's head, in the brain - that the mind is inside each person's head.

"But this runs counter to the fact that some things can be directly shared at a group level - maybe not thought itself, but certainly emotions and sentiments, for example."

"For example?" Axelrod asked.

"Well, during the 1930s, a lot of work was done on what was called 'mob consciousness', where anger or hysteria seems to get communicated by means other than reason or logic. This was suggestive of a group-mind kind of thing - somewhat linked together by a kind of communal telepathy.

"In the middle ages there were lots of communal phenomena, or hysteria's like this..."

With this, I thought I noticed some kind of change in Axelrod - a slight pink color in his face. One can tell if someone is accepting or resisting. It's a sort of well-known magnetic thing.

I went on.

"If there is a group mind, there possibly could be a species-wide one - having some kind of memory... which individuals could link into..."

Axelrod interrupted.

"Are you speaking about some kind of Akashic record or something like that?" He now DID seem nervous.

"No, not exactly. Some kind of species memory storage - maybe at the DNA molecular level. I know this idea makes scientists throw up, but so does any aspect of Psi."

I paused to see if this passed inspection by Mr. Axelrod. He was very quiet and so I couldn't tell. But finally he said "continue"

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... × +
www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm Search ☆ 📄 📧 ⬇️ 🏠

"There has been a lot of interest as to why the coordinate thing should work. I've discussed it with Dr. Jacques Vallee, the famous Ufologist along the lines of Information theory.

"Certain theories regarding information hold that it exists everywhere as sort of a cosmic thing. And if one had an 'address' for it, one could link into it, like a computer that can find information if there is a correct address for it."

"Are you suggesting," Axelrod asked, "that the mind is a computer that can link into . . ."

"Well, something like that, but not at the intellectual level. There actually must be lots of mind layers that function differently."

"But why should coordinates function . . .?" Axelrod mused, almost to himself.

"Well, in a cosmic sense, if one has a round ball or a planet, and if one wants to divide it up, one will assign what amount to longitudes and latitudes. These will divide the ball into segments. If Intelligence exists as a universal, then this would be the best universal way to divide up a planet so as to know where one is on it."

"This is a matter of triangulation. Is this not how illegal radios are found by sending out two or three cars with antennae that can get a triangulated fix. I saw this in a World War II movie . . .".

"Universal?" Axelrod asked. Now a "hot" magnetic thing seemed to come out of him. "Why did you use that word?"

Well, why NOT I thought.

"Well, the best evidence we have for telepathy, for example, is that it seems to be universal to our species. People experience it regardless of their different cultures, their different backgrounds. If we assume that Intelligence can be universal, we also have to assume that Intelligence also has to have sensing factors that also are universal."

Having said my piece, I awaited Axelrod's comment. He just sat looking at me in an odd kind of way. Suddenly I got the idea: Aha, he has some coordinates in the Soviet Union he want me to look at. After all, everyone else had them.

However, Axel now resumed his smile,

"But you went to the planet Jupiter. Did you use coordinates to do so?"

"Well, yes and no. The Jupiter thing came about as a sort of a lark. Again, as at the American Society for Psychical Research in New York, at SRI I got bored with the hundreds and hundreds of experiments.

"NASA was sending the Pioneer fly-by past Jupiter, and I thought it would break the monotony of our SRI work by trying to get to Jupiter ahead of the fly-by. It was a good experimental idea, for we could register my impressions of the planet, circulate them to interested people, and do it in advance of the data the fly-by would send back.

"This data would act as feedback to see if we nailed down any unsuspected facts about Jupiter. It was just a further test of remote-viewing capabilities"

"As kind of coordinates, we found out where Jupiter was in relation to which part of the Zodiac, where Earth was in respect to the Sun. These three factors - the placements of Earth, Sun and Jupiter, acted as a kind of triangulation as to where Jupiter was"

"Yes, I see," Axel grinned. "You did pretty good." I decided to take an initiative.

"Axel, I don't like to do tasks unless there is a good chance of obtaining feedback, and you represent one of those times I have been dragged into a situation where obviously I am not going to get any... am I?"

"Well, that poses a bit of a problem considering our situation here. But surprisingly some feedback will become available in other ways. I will send it to you, in an unmarked envelope."

HUMANOIDS ON THE MOON

Back at work, Axel gave me Moon coordinates, each set representing specific locations on the Moon's surface.

At some of the locations there seemed to be nothing to see except Moonscapes. But at others locations? - well, there were confusions, and I perceived a lot that I could not understand at all. I made a lot of sketches, identifying them as this or that, or looking like something else.

Without comments, Axelrod quickly took possession of each sketch, and I was never to see them again.

I found towers, machinery, lights of different colors, strange -looking "buildings." I found bridges whose function I couldn't figure out. One of them just arched out - and never landed anywhere. There were a lot of domes of various sizes, round things, things like small saucers with windows. These were stored next to crater sides, sometimes in caves, sometimes in what looked like airfield hangars. I had problems estimating sizes. But some of the "things" were very large. I found long tube-like things, machinery-tractor-like things going up and down hills, straight roads extending some miles, obelisks which had no apparent function.

There were large platforms on domes, large cross-like structures. Holes being dug into crater walls and floors obviously having to do with some kind of mining or earth-moving operations. There were "nets" over craters, "houses" in which someone obviously lived, except that I couldn't see who - save in one case. In THAT case, I saw some kind of people busy at work on something I could not figure out. The place was dark. The "air" was filled with a fine dust, and there was some kind of illumination - like a dark lime-green fog or mist.

The thing about them was that they either were human or looked exactly like us - but they were all males, as I could well see since they were all butt-ass naked. I had absolutely no idea why. They seemed to be digging into a hillside or a cliff. As I described,

"They must have some way of creating a good environment, warm and with air in it. But why would they be going around naked?"

No answer was forthcoming to this self-question.

But being there in my psychic state, as I felt I was, some of those guys started talking excitedly and gesticulating. Two of them pointed in my "direction." Immediately I felt like "running away" and hiding, which I guess I psychically did, since I "lost" sight of this particular imaging.

"I think they have spotted me, Axel. They were pointing at me I think. How could they do that... unless..., they have some kind of high psychic perceptions, too?"

Axel said in a calm, low voice, so low I hardly heard it at first.

"Please quickly come away from that place."

My eyes were wide as understanding drained in,

"You already know they are psychic, don't you?"

Axel raised his eyebrows and gave a deep sigh. And, at that point, he abruptly closed his folders,

"I think we had better end our work here."

I was quite surprised. But I had not fallen of the psychic truck just yesterday.

"You think, you already KNOW, that they have some kind of, uh, telepathy - that they can trace where this psychic probe is coming from? Is that it?"

Axel had started smiling again, but obviously was not going to respond, "Come on, Axel, loosen up a little." But I was not to be deterred.

"Would they kill an Earth-psychic if they felt he or she was good enough to spy on them?"

"There is no conclusive evidence to suggest that," Axel responded. I gritted my teeth.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... X +

www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm

Considering the rather dramatic aspects of the Axelrod affair, it might at first seem unlikely that I could forget about it.

But except for meeting the contacts in front of a stuffed elephant and having a hood placed over my head, the Axelrod affair wasn't all that different from many other official and unofficial experiments I got involved with. Many of those experiments had equally dramatic elements.

Most were done in careful secrecy, and my weekly schedule along these lines was jammed with this kind of activity.

One might wonder how it is possible to forget about humanoids and structures on the Moon. Well, for one thing, there was a 50-50 chance they were there or not there. Further, as with all Psi experiments, there was a 100 per cent chance I had been viewing my imagination and fantasies.

As I took it, there was to be no feedback to help resolve the imagination issue one way or another. Since people tend to operate based on feedback, they tend to forget about stuff that never achieves the feedback. Then there are two additional, but extremely subtle phenomena that appear to be involved. They can begin to take on meaning only if they are identified and opened up for inspection. The first phenomenon has to do with the fact that most people forget (and avoid) whatever does not fit within consensus realities.

The second phenomenon has to do with the fact that most humans forget about the Moon altogether. It is THERE, of course. But beyond that, interest in it is exceedingly minimal. It is somewhat difficult to articulate this. One way of beginning to do so is to point up that people are very much interested in Mars, for example, or in the possible existence of Intelligent Beings somewhere in the VERY far distant reaches of space.

But with the Moon, it's almost as if Earth-side human consciousness of the satellite is somehow rigged so as (1) to avoid thinking too much about it; and (2) to disregard any unusual lunar phenomena, I'll try better to articulate these two factors ahead.

As it was back in 1975 and 1976, is not actually forgotten, my memory of the Axelrod affair had receded into some deeper subliminal areas of memory storage. And if I thought about the affair at all, it was only to note that it had happened, that it was over and done with, and that I didn't dare to talk about it for reasons so numerous that it was the better part of valor to forget them, too.

However, whoever or whatever is behind the scenes dealing out the cards of circumstances was not finished with the Axelrod affair. For at some point in 1976 (during the summer, I think), what might be called the second chapter of the Axelrod affair opened up.

For I received in the mail, in a plain envelope which did not bear a return address or even a postmark, although it did have stamps. The envelope contained a book and nothing more. It was entitled Somebody Else Is On the Moon. The author's name was George Leonard.

I spent the next few hours reading it, and then re-read it two more times.

Apparently, at the time of my ultra-secret visit, Mr. Axelrod had already known that this book was coming out, and of course he had been interested in whether I knew the author or not.

Leonard apparently had obtained NASA photographs of the Moon, which after all are in the public domain because most of NASA's work is funded by our tax-paying money.

"What NASA knows," the frontispiece of the book began, "but won't divulge! With careful logic and reason, George Leonard has studied all the data (including official NASA photographs and the astronaut's Apollo tapes) to prove his theory of a highly advanced underground civilization that is working the surface of the Moon - mining, manufacturing, communicating, and building!"

Leonard's book was filled with veritable data, official photos, and sketches of structures etc., he created from the photos.

Well, I can tell you I ran to my own drawings and spent a week comparing and re-comparing them to the sketches and photos George Leonard had provided in his own book. Many of Leonard's sketches resembled some of mine. Yes indeed, the mysterious Mr. Axelrod had provided me feedback as promised, for there could be no doubt that it was his jolly self that sent Leonard's book to me. But could Leonard's book be considered adequate feedback? Well, if not completely, at least somewhat.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... x +
www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm

In order to reduce shopping time, I gave Conrad a lot of other commodities. He went in the direction of meats, and I went in the direction of the vegies. The supermarket had huge tables loaded with artichokes-At one of the artichoke tables was standing a ravishing woman.

She was notable not so much for her excessive female physical endowments, but by the fact that they were barely covered. She was dressed in the briefest of halters of pink with big yellow polka dots. Beneath that were short-shorts so short they barely existed. Far beneath that she wore a pair of platform high-heels about eight inches high.

She had volumes of gorgeous black hair, and her eyes were covered by purple sunglasses. She was absolutely awesome.

I thought: "Good Heavens!!!"

She was rummaging through the artichokes, and I wanted some, too. So I worked my way covertly and nonchalantly into her proximity so I could closer appreciate her near-naked breasts. To make this look natural, with my eyes barely on them, I fumbled some selected artichokes into a bag. And then! For absolutely no reason at all I experienced an electrifying wave of goose-bumps throughout my whole body.

The hair on my arms practically stood at attention, and the hair on my neck definitely did. Without rime or reason or forethinking or anything at all I suddenly "knew" she was an alien, an extraterrestrial.

My throat went dry. My hand's started shaking. And so I decided to back off and start examining the oranges and grapefruits for the fruit aspic Conrad and I were going to try to achieve. To get to the oranges, I had to turn - and then! Way down the line-up of vegetable cases I recognized, of ALL astounding and possible things, ONE OF THE TWINS!

HE was watching the woman. HE saw that I saw him, and then immediately arose in my mind an image of a white card: Please do not speak, and please act normal.

Trying to gather my surprised wits, by now somewhat shattered, the silliest thought then occurred to me. Well, if one of the twins is HERE, of all places, then the other one must be, too. And sure enough, the other twin was at the opposite end of the vegetable line-up - and he was watching the woman, too.

This time, both the twins were DRESSED IN BLACK! Not the infamous black suits worn by those who are said to warn those who have seen UFOs not to talk about them. Here were black jeans, black boots, and black tank-tops, looking like macho hoodlums of the L.A. variety.

At this point, I realized that I was so me where I should not be, and I made a hasty and strategic retreat to the bread section on the other side of the store. By the time I reached the bread section, a considerable wave of TERROR had begun to make itself felt.

Something here now needs to be clarified. If I hadn't seen the twins, I might have attributed to my imagination something of the strange effect I experienced near the ultra-sensuous woman. But that was now not possible at all. The twins' presence, coupled with my psychic alert, confirmed that the woman WAS an ET. I don't quite remember how the rest of the shopping went.

Conrad and I got our groceries checked out. On the way to the car, I explained that we would not attempt the orange aspic after all. Once in his car in the parking lot I asked him to wait a few moments. He asked what was wrong. I said "just wait."

Shortly, the female came out pushing a loaded grocery cart.

"Study that one, and tell me what you think,"

Conrad looked briefly at the woman - and then said the most remarkable thing.

"Well, if you mean do I think she's an extraterrestrial, yes," said Conrad in a bored way. "We've got a lot of them here in La-La Land."

I didn't ask him what he thought about the two who were observing her squeezing her fabulousness and groceries into a broken-down yellow Volkswagen.

I sank down in Conrad's car and urged him to make a quick departure. The dinner for Shafica and Viola was a complete success. Naturally, after plying them, and ourselves, with copious amounts of good wine, we told them that we had seen yet another ET down at the supermarket.

This opened up rather inebriated discussions about the ET civilization which was busy infiltrating Earth. Shafica and Viola discussed all of these things in whispers - and the more serious they became the harder it was to hear them.

Viola:

"There are a lot of THEM, you know, and many are bio-androids."

Shafica:

"They're dangerous, you know, and they realize that Earth psychics are their only enemies. Be careful, Ingo, be careful."

All of THIS information package - without ME ever mentioning the Axelrod event.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... × +

www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm

Search

"Have you ever seen a UFO?" he asked.

"Yes, I think so."

"Can you describe it?"

"Well, when I was in high school in Tooele, Utah, I used to climb to the top of a large hill called Little Mountain.

"From there you can see across the vast Bonneville Valley and see the Great Salt Lake to the north. It has big islands in it, you know. The view of this vista was just wonderful.

"I used to take naps up there in the late afternoon, but on this particular day I noticed a speck of light really high in the sky over what must have been Salt Lake City.

"It was flying west, and I thought it was an airplane moving really fast.

"But at a certain point in its westward flight it abruptly made a right angle turn downward, not a curved turn down but exactly 90 degrees.

"It plunged straight down, and fell into the shadows of the islands or mountains because the sun was lowering in the west and making shadows go to the east.

"I stood up, thinking that the plane had exploded or crashed.

"But as I did the thing rose directly straight up, out of the shadows.

"It rose up to its former elevation, like about 35,000 or 40,000 feet up, and once there disappeared directly into the west in a burst of speed, which was dazzling.

"I didn't know what to think of this, but years later decided it must have been a UFO after I had learned that some of them make right-angle turns.

"Why it did what it did is beyond me. The whole of this down and up and speeding away took place in less than a minute. All I really saw, though, was a speck of light."

Axelrod was silent. It was hot, the Jeep had no air conditioner.

Then:

"Me may have an opportunity to see one of them rather close up. Are you game?"

Even among all the astonishments available in the Axelrod scenario, nothing could have amazed me more.

"You mean there's one around here! You've captured one?"

"Oh, no, not that. We have to take a trip, then a hike to a place where one shows up at intervals. Are you game?"

Was I GAME! Who wouldn't be.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... X +

www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm

Search

My eyeballs rolled around trying to perceive what had begun. I couldn't see anything unusual at all, save for what appeared to be some gray fog forming up in the direction of the lake. I thought it was just morning fog coming up. This fog continued forming for about five minutes, and suddenly I saw what had "begun."

For in a moment's eye flicker the gray fog changed, first into luminous neon blue, and then into angry purple. At that point, Axel and one of the twins put a firm hand on each of my shoulders, and it was a good thing they did. A network of purple, red, and yellow lightening bolts shot in all crazy directions through the "cloud", and I would have jumped up if not held down.

And then, there it was. Somewhat transparent at first, but in the next second, as if fading-up (like the movie term) out of nowhere, there IT WAS! - solidly visible over the lake whose reflecting waters I could now clearly see.

And IT was GETTING BIGGER!

I don't really know what I had expected, but I had assumed that what I would see, if anything, would be something like a flying saucer. No chance of a saucer here, baby. Because IT was triangular, and its top angle sort of inverted in pulses, so that overall it appeared to be diamond shaped.

At that moment in my astonishment, we could hear a "wind" coming, and it moved past us like a tangible magnetic field, rustling the pine trees around us so much that some cones and branches fell on us. The two firm hands on my shoulders tightened, warning me not to move in pure physical reaction.

At the same time, ruby-red laser-like beams began shooting out from the "thing", which incredibly was now growing even MORE in size - while still stationary in its original position over the lake.

One of the twins now TALKED softly, although the sound of his voice was like thunder to me.

"Shit! They're enveloping the area! They're going to spot us!"

I had no time to wonder about what he meant. Indeed, some of the laser-red beams had begun blasting pine trees! Of all things! At the same time, the "thing" had now increased its size to what may have been about ninety feet wide. The whole of this so far had been accomplished in COMPLETE silence, and even the electric bolts had not "crackled."

The blasting of the trees, though, was now audible, while at the same time I could begin to hear low-frequency pulsations.

"They're blasting deer or porcupines or something in the forest," Axel explained softly in a calm but tense stage whisper. "The beams sense biological body heat, and they're sure to hone in on us,"

At that moment, the two hands tightened on my shoulders and I was dragged and practically thrown back down into the arroyo. There was a terrific "pop" where we had been, and some large branches of nearby pines cascaded down on us.

That was my last sight of the triangular thing, but in that last moment I could see the WATER OF THE LAKE SURGING UPWARD - like a waterfall going upward, as if being sucked into the "machine!"

I had landed rather hard on my butt. But with my feet dragging, the twins pulled me up and ran with me between them down the arroyo a short way where they suddenly flung me like a sack of corn under a rock overhang of some kind. Axel plopped in virtually on top of me, and the four of us huddled packed together like mice in a matchbox.

Axel was breathing hard. The twins were breathing hard.

I was barely breathing at all, and it took some while to realize that a rock or stick had cut through the jumpsuit into my leg, and that the wound was bleeding. However, I needed no whispered instructions to be as quiet and still as possible.

I was virtually petrified with a kind of terror for which there are few if any words to describe. But there was also a kind of thrill. I HAD seen one!

meaning we should depart, which we did as if just coming back from a hiking expedition.

"So," Axelrod asked while walking, "what did you sense?"

I burst out laughing: "You're completely nuts, Axel! I have to be calm, cool, collected, and in good shape to sense anything. But you can bet your ass you've got a real problem, haven't you!"

Then, from a queasy area of sense-making not exactly intellectually conscious:

"It was a 'drone' of some kind - unmanned, controlled from somewhere else - wasn't it?"

Axel frowned, looking at the slope of the hill we were descending.

"What was it doing here?" he asked tentatively.

"Well, for chrissakes! It was THIRSTY! Taking on water, obviously. Someone, somewhere needs water - ...so I suppose they just come and get it.

"You don't need to be psychic to see that! Yeah! That's it, supply 'ship' Earth! Let's drive over to Earth, go shopping and pick up what we need, that kind of thing."

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... × +
www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm Search ☆ 📄 📧 ⬇

"Any feelings about how the object transports itself?" Axel asked.

I looked at him and burst out laughing. He had to be kidding! The "object", indeed.

"Well, it must be some kind of 'space displacer', but really Axel, I haven't a clue. But I CAN understand why people who see something like this don't believe it - and why people who haven't seen it CAN'T believe it."

Axel was silent, staring out the window. I went on:

"As I remember it, the thing did not 'transport' itself. It GREW in place right where it appeared.

"It was a pyramidal thing, not a saucer. We think of a saucer flying about, and in fact when we think of things in the air we think of flying in the air.

"We do not think of things growing in place in the air."

Axelrod studied me, but I saw he was perspiring.

"Are you sick or something," I asked.

"Ah, I think I cracked a rib when we tumbled. Never mind, it's nothing serious. What's your point here?"

"In our research of remote-viewing capacities, we have learned that when the viewers "see" something they don't understand, they explain it in ways that make sense to them.

"For example, to a viewer who has never seen an actual atomic reactor, what they are sensing can be described as a teapot, both of which are hot and 'cook'.

"We call this 'analytical overlay', meaning the mind-dynamic process of overlaying something unknown or unrecognized or unfamiliar with a mental image which is recognized"

"The psychic subject in remote-viewing a site with an atomic reactor may well overlay the impressions with a 'teapot' or a 'furnace' because these are the memory images which come closest to what is being psychically sensed.

"If you take the time to let the viewer study diagrams of atomic reactors and photographs of them and their surroundings, the next time they encounter one in psychic seeing they are more likely to identify it correctly rather than call it a teapot.

"But in general, people do something like this all the time. When they encounter something they do not understand, they tend to interpret it in ways they do understand, and they arrive at an interpretation which really doesn't have much to do with what was experienced.

"In others words, they process the unknown through what I call their 'reality-hoppers' and come up with something that fits their present realities - but which may not, and probably does not, pertain to the actual reality of what they experienced.

"People fill in the unknown with what fits with THEIR known.

"The proof here exists in the fact that when five people are shown something which is outside their experience, one of them might say that they don't know what it is.

"But the other four might produce four different explanations of what they saw.

"For example, you called that thing an 'object'. But what I saw materialized, grew in place, and I suppose dematerialized after we tumbled down the rocks and dirt.

"It may have achieved an object status at one point, but to my way of thinking this was an 'appearance' rather than an object.

"A shifting-appearance at that.

"A full part of the problem is that it is a REALITY problem FOR US.

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

A Question of Extraterrestrial A... X +
www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia_telepathy.htm

Except for voicing the lunar coordinates when I asked for them, Axel was to make no verbal inputs. I talk out loud when "doing my thing," asking MYSELF a series of questions. But these are questions to aid my intellect in trying to understand what I am experiencing. These are not questions others need to respond to while I am "at work." I DO NOT like to close my eyes when I am doing my "thing".

I settled back and tried to get a sense of Earth being between the Sun and Moon - and slowly began to have images of rising upwards from Earth until I could see its curvature. As I had already learned from our efforts to get psychically to Jupiter, the Sun looks much smaller to my psychic senses than it does when we eye-ball it on Earth. Seen psychically, and if seeming smaller, at least three "envelopes" of some kind are clearly visible around the solar star.

In any event, I tried psychically to head away from the Sun, toward the Moon. This now looked LARGER than it does when eye-balling it.

I had no problem getting there. Slowly at first, it grew larger and larger and then swiftly filled my psychic vision completely - a whitish thing, with grays, darks and, surprisingly, a lot of yellows in it. Suddenly I was kind of sucked into-toward it faster, as if in a gravity free-fall.

Next, I had the sensation of "being" next to some pumice-like rocks.

"OK," I whispered to Axel, "I can see these rocks, and some dust, so I guess I must be here. Give me your first Moon coordinate preceding it with the word Moon."

I wrote down "Moon" and the coordinate-ordinate and nothing happened. I was still where I had touched down.

"Give it again, more slowly," I asked. He did so, and I experienced a blurred kind of vision, a sense of zooming across a plain, some mountains - and then into darkness which surprised me.

"Its dark here," I said. "Why is that? A rhetorical question, Axel. Please do not speak an answer." Darkness!

Then, slowly, as adjusting to a kind of night vision, I could begin to perceive formations. And I realized what had happened.

"This coordinate" I asked, "is it on the dark side of the Moon? Yes, it must be"

I began trying to make sense of the impressions I was acquiring.

"Well, I seem to be near a cliff of some kind. It goes upward quite high, made of some kind of dark rock. There is whitish sand, a fluffy kind of sand. Away from the cliff formation there is a broad expanse of some kind. There are some patterns in the sand, or whatever it is - not quite like sand."

"What do the patterns look like", Axel interjected.

He was not supposed to intrude with questions. But he had, so I went with it.

"Well (I now closed my eyes), sort of like little tufts or dunes, as if the wind had made a kind of pattern."

After a moment of considering these little dunes:

"But there is not supposed to be any wind on the Moon, is there? No atmosphere?... Yet, I can sense something like atmosphere... I'm getting a little confused. Let's take a break."

But the awful truth dawned in a burst of light. I looked at him.

"Unless they ... I can't believe this... unless they somehow have told you to stay away, and somehow shown you they mean it!"

This time Axel was neither smiling nor not smiling. I got out of my chair and started pacing the length of the table. I started laughing.

"Goddamn it! They've somehow got you by the balls, haven't they. That's why you are resorting to psychic perceptions! Ja-eesus Kahariiiiistí? They are NOT friendly, are they? ARE THEY, Axel!"

Axel kept his cool.

"There are two major reasons why I've asked you to help. You are approximately correct about the first one, but not completely so. The second reason is more simple.

"Your information might provide a kind of check point in what you surely now realize must be a mess of interpretations of the photographic and other evidence.

"It was my idea to find a psychic who did not know anything about the Moon, and see what might be seen there. Sort of an independent source of information, which would lean our interpretations one way or another."

"Have you used other psychics, then?" I demanded, very intent on getting an answer.

"Please don't require me to say yes or no."

I felt my patience thinning out, "Why not?"

"There are several reasons, but mainly there is a confidence factor involved."

"Confidential about what, about the abilities of other psychics?"

"Yes, that is one of them,"

Once Schmeidler's experiment protocols had been approved by her peer review processes, considered stringent, the formal thermistor sessions commenced in the lab at City College. There were to be five formal sessions on separate days with me as the "subject," plus two post-sessions in which student volunteers tried to influence the thermistors. All of the sessions were held in the City College laboratory. The Dynograph (the chart recorder) connected to a computer was placed where I could see the read-out -- to see if I was on-target or not as a form of feedback.

One of Schmeidler's colleagues, Larry Lewis, took charge of all of the apparatus, including the computers which stored and counted the temperature-fluctuation information. At first he was somewhat dubious that the experiment would produce anything -- but was soon blown away as I was also to be.

There were four target thermistors plus additional non-target ones, the latter placed in direct line with the target ones. I was supposed to influence only the targets selected by Schmeidler. Some of the target thermistors were placed behind glass to see if it acted as a "psychic shield." All of the thermistors, whether target ones or not, were sealed inside thermos bottles.

During the second session, both I and Schmeidler moved into a separate room so that a wall intervened between me and the targets. Some of the target thermistors were then twenty-five feet away, some closer, the closest being the thermistor five feet away in its sealed thermos bottle.

Unknown to me, Schmeidler utilized preselected sequences which would follow the counterbalanced order ABBABAAB, which equated to her various verbal commands of rest, hot, rest, cold, rest, cold, cold, rest, hot, cold, etc. All I had to do was to try to focus on the selected thermistor inside its thermos bottle, and try to do what SHE commanded and IN THE ORDER SHE DID.

As to the results. Only the target thermistors were influenced, albeit sometimes weakly so, but majorly so in the preponderance of the trials. Glass, walls, nearness or farness from the targets made no difference.

In the abstract of her formal paper, Schmeidler phrased the success as: "Significant PK changes in continuous, automatic recordings of temperature were repeatedly produced." Embedded in the paper's text is presented the fact that the experiment was repeatable at the direction of the experimenter. [See PK EFFECTS UPON CONTINUOUSLY RECORDED TEMPERATURE published in THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR PSYCHICAL RESEARCH, Vol. 67, October 1973, No. 4.]

Drafts of her paper were almost immediately in circulation in December 1971, since the paper was widely circulated for peer review and Xerox copies of which were distributed by the peer reviewers in all sorts of directions. And a tremendous ruckus now ensued, one which reached from the bowels of parapsychology to the guts of science proper -- and from those venerable, if murky, realms -- into the guts of the MEDIA!

The focus of the ruckus had not much to do with the experiment itself. What the focus was can best be explained as follows. A confirmed example of controlled psychokinetic effects had been demonstrated by a subject in a laboratory. If he can trigger a thermistor could he not also trigger a nuclear bomb? Schmeidler's experiment didn't come even close to implying any such thing, of course. But this hysterical wave grew, as one might imagine it would.

Part 6. ... FINAL PART TO ...

... UNLIKE the red pill or the blue pill that one is familiar with from the Hollywood movie; The Matrix, there is a better pill ... THE YELLOW PILL ... derived from the subtraction of yellow from green to yield blue or the subtraction of yellow from orange to yield red ... meaning that the colors green and orange are sufficient to describe the four primary colors ... red, yellow, green and blue ... everything about UFO is real and has happened ... abductions ... sightings ... UFO crashes ... aliens ... planes missing ... ships missing ... conspiracies ... alternatives 1, 2 and 3 that were discussed by William Cooper ... the list is an extremely long one ... William Cooper had mentioned that radar had made some of the UFO to crash ... think for a moment ... radar is microwave radiation ... heats up water ... UFO craft power engines used water ... so there was an imbalance and UFO crashed ... more powerful radar was used resulting in more UFO crashes ... William Cooper had also mentioned that the "EBE [ExoBiological Entity]" had metabolism similar to plants on Earth and based upon Chlorophyll that allowed the "EBE" to absorb energy directly from Sunlight like Plants on Earth do ... Human Blood has Iron atoms in the Bloods' Hemoglobin molecules ... remove the Iron atoms and replace them selectively [?] with Magnesium atoms and the result is Chlorophyll molecules ... this is consistent with Jessups' point of view that UFO are from the Earths' past and reside in the gravity neutral of the Sun / Earth / Moon system since they had escaped the catastrophe of the past that wiped out Earths' past civilizations ... when someone is out in the hazardous and radiation filled environment of Space and unprotected for the long haul from radiation that is from both Cosmic and Solar origins ... it is only natural to adapt themselves to be able to survive radiation and UFO residents had to change their metabolism to becoming Chlorophyll based so that they could be alive in the harsh environs of Space and bide their time ... and essentially wait for the correct time to return to Earth again ... the point is that everything about UFO is consistent with Jessups' conclusions ... so the question is; WHAT NOW??? ... also the undersea cities mentioned by the annotators; A, B, and Jemi are completed and populated ... again the question is; WHAT NOW??? ... WELL; to start in the answers to those questions, a digress ... the greatest ability that The Human Family has nurtured; COMPASSION, which requires someone to have humility ... making The Human Family simply strong ... WHO ends up getting to participate in populating the offworld bases mentioned by William Cooper??? ... WHO ends up getting to participate in populating the undersea cities mentioned by A, B and Jemi??? ... I think you know the answer ... only the best ones are the ones who end up in the elite places ... meaning ... there are left behind humans and the UFO residents that could not make it to either the offworld bases nor the undersea cities ... this is what I mean by; "my opinion is that the UFO mystery [present] has ended due to its maturing into another form [mystery] entirely" ... the left behind humans and their left behind UFO cousins ... the cream of the crop has taken off and left us behind because we were not found to be of value or utility or as they say it; up to par ... it is precisely this situation that we should feel happy about as it contains within it the real and true future for The Human Family ... those that are left behind are humans and their human looking UFO cousins blessed with the strengths of compassion in humans and telepathic abilities in their human looking UFO cousins ... so; to those that have taken off, the very best is wished and for those of us left behind ... a brave new and wonderful future is in front of us ...

MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... my opinion is that the UFO mystery [present] has ended due to its maturing into another form [mystery] entirely ... UFO and the conspiracies around them will still go on and be kept alive as they are presently BIG BUSINESS for making movies, books, TV Shows etc., ... I agree with Jessup that UFO are from our terrestrial past and have returned after sensing safer conditions to exist in than before they had originally left ... my focus is on the future and ... THE HUMAN FAMILY ... something I look forward to with great joy and optimism ... LET US LOOK FORWARD TO THE HUMAN FAMILY AND ITS WONDERFUL FUTURE ...

THE BVCEGI REPORT

Count Zhoaren von Bvcegi

Part 7. ... SOURCES ...

... sources are numerous and I am grateful for their existence ... without whose efforts ... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ... would be impossible ... I have not included Frank Sculleys' work on UFO because firstly; I agree with Jessup and secondly, Sculleys' work was checked out by TRUE magazine and found to be "not completely correct" ... assuming you have NOT typed "DUNDRUM H5" to check out the meteorite Charles had mentioned in his book ... I am attaching screensnips for you to look through and try to figure out which was the stone Charles mentioned ... the reason I wanted you to check up on "DUNDRUM H5" was simple; who knows what you will find or uncover? ... on the last page is a goldmine of reports in a small screensnip about billions of birds flying in formations hundreds of miles long just like the swarms Charles mentions he had read newspaper reports of ... I am quite sure that Charles was aware of the birds reports in the screensnip and must have left it out as Charles wanted to focus on everyday newspaper articles etc., that everyday folks can happily relate to unlike scientific journals and researches and their scientists ... Charles was a genius and also a practical thinker ... Charles thought that understanding and using teleportative forces would allow for carrierless and coachless transports of goods and peoples ... I think Charles was the one who had originally coined the term "teleportation"... I wish Charles was around today so that we could be clearer in our ... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

Meteoritical Bulletin...
www.lpi.usra.edu/meteor/metbull.php?code=7745
Search

THE METEORITICAL SOCIETY
International Society for Meteoritics and Planetary Science

MetSoc Home
Publications
Search Meteorites

Search the Meteoritical Bulletin Database

Last update: 28 Jun 2016

Search for:
☒ Names
☐ Text
☐ Places ☐ Classes

Search type:
☒ Contains ☐ Starts with ☐ Exact
☐ Sounds like

Search limits:
All countries
All classes
☐ NonAntarctic
☐ Falls
☐ Has photo

Display:
Link to Google Earth
Sort by name
50 lines/page
Normal table
☐ Limit to approved meteorite names

Publication:
All bulls
What's new in the last:
(no time limit)

Search text:

Data for a specific record:

Dundrum

Basic information	Name: Dundrum This is an OFFICIAL meteorite name. Abbreviation: There is no official abbreviation for this meteorite. Observed fall: Yes Year fell: 1865 Country: Ireland Mass:  2.27 kg
Classification history:	NHM Catalogue: 5th Edition (2000) H5 MetBase: v. 7.1 (2006) H5 Recommended: H5 [explanation] This is 1 of 8177 approved meteorites (plus 11 unapproved names) classified as H5. [show all] Search for other: H chondrites (type 4-7) , Ordinary chondrites (type 4-7) , H chondrites , and Ordinary chondrites
Catalogs:	Search for this meteorite in the Natural History Museum collection (U.K.):  <input type="checkbox"/> Require NHM photo
References:	Never published in the Meteoritical Bulletin Find references in NASA ADS:  Find references in Google Scholar:
Photos:	<table> <thead> <tr> <th>Credit</th> <th>Photos</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td colspan="2">Photos from the Encyclopedia of Meteorites:</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Don Edwards</td> <td></td> </tr> <tr> <td colspan="2">Photos uploaded by members of the Encyclopedia of Meteorites. (Caution, these are of unknown reliability)</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Kieron Heard</td> <td></td> </tr> <tr> <td>Peter Marmet</td> <td></td> </tr> </tbody> </table>	Credit	Photos	Photos from the Encyclopedia of Meteorites:		Don Edwards		Photos uploaded by members of the Encyclopedia of Meteorites. (Caution, these are of unknown reliability)		Kieron Heard		Peter Marmet
Credit	Photos
Photos from the Encyclopedia of Meteorites:
Don Edwards
Photos uploaded by members of the Encyclopedia of Meteorites. (Caution, these are of unknown reliability)
Kieron Heard
Peter Marmet
Geography:	   Coordinates: Catalogue of Meteorites: (52° 33'N, 8° 2'W) Recommended: (52° 33'N, 8° 2'W) Statistics: This is 1 of 3 approved meteorites from Munster, Ireland This is 1 of 6 approved meteorites from Ireland <input type="button" value="View Google Map"/>
Proximity search:	Find nearby meteorites: enter search radius (km): <input type="text"/> <input type="button" value="Search!"/>
Also see:	<input type="button" value="See what others liked"/> This lists the most popular meteorites among people who looked up this meteorite.
Synonyms:	Tipperary (In NHM Cat)

Direct link to this page

Dundrum

VIEW MICROSCOPE

VIEW OBJECT

Fact sheet

The Dundrum meteorite was seen to fall on August 12th 1865 after detonations ("like the shot out of a cannon") had been heard. It is an ordinary chondrite weighing 2.27 kg.

Dundrum is near Cashel in County Tipperary, Republic of Ireland.

The Dundrum meteorite is classified as an H5 (veined), meaning it has a high iron content (12-21%) and indistinct chondrules (round features consisting of olivine and pyroxene crystals). Look in PPL to see fragmented and distorted chondrules (rotation 1) and crystals of olivine (rotation 2). As this is not a polished section a reflected light view is not possible - however, look at the black areas in PPL to see the location of metallic iron and troilite.

See also:

<http://www.bimsociety.org/bim3.shtml>

<http://www.lpi.usra.edu/meteor/metbull.php?code=7745>

Specimen: BMT145

Thin section:

In Place

Dundrum, Co Tipperary, Ireland
Accuracy: Good

In Time

Timescale: Hadean
Ma = Millions of years ago

In Focus

Collection:	British & Irish Meteorites
Theme:	Ordinary Chondrites
Type:	meteorite
Category:	H5
Rock-forming minerals:	olivine, pyroxene

COME AND DISCOVER OUR COLLECTIONS

British & Irish Meteorites

The British Meteorites collection consists of meteorites that have fallen in Great Britain and Ireland and which are now preserved in museum collections. We have also included samples of the two known meteorite impact deposits in the UK.

The Natural History Museum in London offers more information about meteorites and meteorite categories here, and there is more information about its meteorite collections here.

These digital assets are available under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 2.0 Licence

We would like to thank the following for the use of this sample:

Privacy and cookies | Copyright | Conditions of use

Except for third party materials and otherwise stated, content on this site is made available under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 2.0 Licence

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...

1810 kentucky passenger ... The Great Extermination ... www.drb.ie/essays/the-great-extirmination Search of the pigeon ... grey squirrels, fox squirrels, turkeys, deer, raccoons, not to mention the Native Indian populations – resulting in an “unsustainable population explosion of the birds”.

In 1810 Alexander Wilson, a Scottish immigrant, watched a “prodigious” procession of wild pigeons which took six hours to pass over him. An Enlightenment man, he attempted a “scientific” bird count – by timing their passage overhead. Estimating the speed of the birds and the time they took to pass, he concluded that the column had been 240 miles long. Assuming the column was conservatively a mile in breadth, with three birds per square yard, he calculated a number of 2,232,072,000 passenger pigeons – probably an underestimate as it didn’t take account of the multiple strata of birds in the flock. Significantly, at the same time, Wilson witnessed the great crowds of westbound settlers on the move down the Ohio river and its tributaries – “caravans of Kentucky ‘arks’ laden with settlers and commodities ... migrating like birds of passage to the luxuriant regions of the south and west”. Later, a watcher in the 1860s calculated 120,000,000 birds per hour passed him. One flock in 1866 in southern Ontario was described as being a mile wide and three hundred miles long; it took fourteen hours to pass and held more than three and a half billion birds.

As white settlements exploded across the Midwest and West after the American civil war, wild pigeon nestings were turned into scenes of carnage: one nesting in Michigan in 1878 was

... end of ...

... MAKING SENSE OF UFO ...